WE NOMINATE

James Edward Davis, one of the most stimulating of all Princetonians and a pioneer for the past four decades in the continuing search for new art media, who this week is responsible for the most meaningful "community show" yet sponsored by Princeton University's new Art Museum — "Works by Jim Davis." Feeling that "the traditional tools of the artist are completely obsolete," this 66-year old native of West Virginia has repeatedly insisted that the modern-day artist must turn to the motion picture film as a means of communication if he is to succeed in breaking what many have termed the stranglelock of static reality.

Ever since his post-Princeton studies as member of the University's Class of 1923 carried him through the "whole artistic gamut, including cubism," Davis has experimented tirelessly, and youthfully, with materials and techniques. As early as 1932, for instance, he came forward with murals in clear plastic, sealed between sheets of laminated safety glass. His Princeton exhibition some 30 years ago featured several paintings done on asbestos board with cellophane coverings and, shortly thereafter, he started his investigations of the refractions of light which were to lead directly to his series of thought-provoking abstract films.

Headquartered for many years on a top-floor Nassau Street flat, which served as studio, photo-workshop and living quarters Davis turned to film in coping with the problem of motion and used the camera to record the reflections and shadows cast by suspended plastic mobiles. His first film venture in 1948 was welcomed by New York's Museum of Modern Art and his second was ordered in quantity for distribution abroad by the Department of State. Twice in three years modestly budgeted Davis creations were selected for showings by international film festivals for being representative of the best of American films.

Davis, founding head of The Lawrenceville School's Department of Art and for a period of years an off-and-on-again member of Princeton University's Faculty, also scored heavily in the field of documentary films. Two of this country's 20th century "immortals," Frank Lloyd Wright and water-colorist John Marin, both of whom applauded Davis' film-experiments, refused to cooperate with "name-photographers" in filming their lives. Instead, they both invited Davis, then a self-confessed amateur, to do the job and for the first time "living records" of American artistic genius at work were carefully documented for posterity.

In the tastefully done brochure describing the Davis show, which will run through April 28th, an able contemporary American artist hails Davis as "one of the first Americans to have used light in art." Davis, his admiring colleague states, "began as a painter and grew logically into a light artist. His paintings on canvas evolved into paintings on transparent plastic sheets, then to spotlighted layers of these sheets. Soon the sheets turned into three-dimensional revolving objects spotlighted to cast moving shadows and reflections; then came still photographs of these light projections; and they were followed by the projection of moving light onto a translucent screen. Finally, Davis arrived at making abstract films out of light in movement."

For ever minimizing his achievements as "an American pioneer of light as art;" for insisting that "it is better to fail in the progressive direction than to succeed in the passive;" for feeling that "there is no limit to the possibilities available" in the media in which he opts to work; he is TOWN TOPICS nominee as

RETIREMENT PLANS MADE KNOWN: William H. Walker (left) and Alfred E. Sorenson, with combined service of 24 years on Borough Council, have announced they will not run for re-election. Story, this page.

WHO'S RUNNING?

Two Bow Out, Two veteran Borough Councilmen have decided not to run for re election this year.

Alfred E. Sorenson, with a 15-year record of service, and William H. Walker with nine, will not run again. Both are Republicans.

Foster Jacobs, 277 Hawthorne Avenue, is the G.O.P. choice to run for one of the Borough positions. Republicans haven't yet chosen a second candidate.

Mr. Jacobs is manager of Princeton University's Division of Plant and Operations in the Department of Planning, Plant and Properties and as an engineer, Republicans say, would bring to Council the same skills as Mr. Sorenson. The retiring Councilman is a member of the University's engineering faculty.

In the Township, it is considered probable that Mayor Carl C. Schafer will run for his third three-year term, and Committeeman Burton Peskin will seek a second term. Both are Republicans.

April 25 is the deadline for the June 4 primary. So far, neither Borough nor Township Democrats have candidates.

BYPASS ROUTE OPPOSED

By South Brunswick. South Brunswick Township officials and several residents voiced their opposition to the state's proposed alignment of Route 92 at a public hearing Tuesday, which saw the route endorsed by virtually all other public authorities present.

More than 500 persons filled every seat in the Kingston Volunteer Fire Co. No. 1 firehouse to hear the latest airing of views on the freeway, which has been on the drawing board in various alignments for more than a decade. Robert W. Wilcox of the State's bureau of route location conducted the hearing, which concerned Route 92 between Routes 206 and 1.

Having listened patiently to everyone who wished to speak during the 3½ hour meeting, including representatives of state, county and township governments as well as property owners, the State Department of Transportation, which sponsored the meeting, hopefully will reach a final decision on the alignment.

However, although the wish for speedy action was made repeatedly, it could be premature to look upon this as the final chapter. Funds for the road's construction are dependent upon a large bond issue, and regardless of their availability, the alignment question could end up in litigation.

Ten More Years? The South Brunswick Township Planning Board resorted to legal action last year against the State Highway Department over the alignment of Route 27, and only withdrew the suit because the alignment was not in final form. Heavy truck traffic could roll through Princeton for another decade.

Speaking in favor of the state's route and interchanges at Routes 206, 522, 27 and 1 were Louis A. Calvanelli, representing the Mercer County Planning Board; Edwin A. Johnson, Mercer County Board of Freeholders; Robert F. Schenker, chairman of the Somerset County Planning Board and Montgomery Township Committee; and Joseph R. Nini, Princeton Township administrator.

Robert F. Pierry, mayor of Franklin Township, also approved the route and added that he would like to see Route 27 become four lanes from New Brunswick to Princeton. Peter F. Grigas of the Middlesex County Planning Board added his endorsement, but suggested that the Route 27 interchange might be better if moved northward to connect with a cross county arterial road.

South Brunswick is opposed to the section of Route 92 that curves up to the intersection of Raymond Road and Route 27, where it crosses on its way to Route 1. Abraham Dobin, chairman of the township's planning board, stated that its master plan called for an alternate alignment which would cross Route 27 about 2,000 feet further south.

"This master plan is, in effect, a law in South Brunswick," Mr. Dobin said, "and we must respect that until changes are made by future planning boards." He cited the many houses in the Raymond Road area which would be affected, referring to it as "one of our prestige areas." He also pointed out that the alternate alignment would run through more open land.

PRIDE Objects. His sentiments were echoed by Seymour Montgomery, attorney for PRIDE (Proper Regional Intercommunity Development Effort), a group of homeowners in the Raymond Road area. He noted that the road was coming through South Brunswick as an accommodation to Princeton Borough and Township, and that the route had been changed four times to accommodate private interests.

Saying that it might be many years before the freeway is built, Mr. Montgomery said that if the alignment becomes final, the state ought to buy and pay for the land it needs, so that if construction is delayed, the home owners and the municipality will at least know what land will be used. "I don't think the courts would uphold the right of public authority to put 'blight' on this area without paying for it," Mr. Montgomery commented.

Also at issue in the alignment is the fate of 360 garden apartments to be added to Kingston Terrace and 20 single residence dwellings planned for the area, which would be wiped out if the alignment and interchange are accepted.

Walter J. Zizik, executive director of the South Brunswick Municipal Utilities Authority, estimated that it would lose $2.84 million in revenues from the apartment's use of utilities over the next 40 years, the term of a bond issue.

Herbert Wright, a former member of both the South Brunswick Township Planning Board and Committee, spoke in favor of the alternate alignment, and also supported the argument of others against the Route 27 interchange. He cited the expenditures for right of way, noise and drainage factors, and the loss of the garden apartments as reasons for running the bypass under Route 27.

He supported the proposal to extend Route 522 when it is relocated farther north. The new 522 will intersect with Route 27 about a mile north of Raymond Road, and in Mr. Wright's plan would continue on down to a junction with the bypass near its interchange with Kingston's Laurel Avenue.

owners were answered by residents living within Kingston, who favored the state's alignment. Thomas Brian of the Kingston Homeowner's Assn. said Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg had been sent 300 petitions from residents who did not want Route 92 any closer to the town. Kingston also should benefit from the freeway through the loss of much of the truck traffic from Kingston Trap Rock Co.

Regardless of where the road finally goes, the feeling of most residents in the surrounding area including Princeton was probably best expressed by former Township Committeeman Bertrand L. Gulick, 1092 Princeton Kingston Road, who told the state in referring to Route 92 "Give us a chance to use it before we die."

FIND MISSING ARSENAL

In Canal Near Washington Rd. A 3.5 inch rocket launcher, four .30 caliber machine guns and 55 of 59 .45 caliber pistols stolen from the Princeton Armory on River Road last November have been recovered from the Delaware Raritan Canal.

State Police trained as scuba divers recovered nine of the pistols on Tuesday. The bulk of the arsenal had been recovered Monday afternoon by Township Patrolman Anthony Gaylord, a scuba diver by avocation, from the murky bottom of the canal some eight to ten feet below the surface.

The cache was discovered by two children walking with their mother along the canal near Washington Road. Police said the children spotted about eight of the guns in a partially submerged five gallon bucket near the edge of the 30-foot wide canal. Draining operations conducted by the State Department of Conservation had lowered the level of the water.

The children's mother whose name police declined to reveal, called Township Hall police shortly after 1 p.m. Township police then spent the rest of the afternoon retrieving the weapons.

The serial numbers of the pistols and guns matched those taken from the armory November 21, police said. They belonged to Company A of the Sixth Battalion of the 50th Armored Division of the N. J. National Guard. The theft had caused authorities to install tighter security measures at the armory.

At the time, following a summer of racial riots in Newark and Plainfield, there had been speculation that the arsenal had been seized by those planning to use them in future riots.

Township Police Chief James B. Campbell Jr. refused to comment on the evidence found at the scene. He called it "slight."

The machine guns and launcher, after cleaning, appeared to be in remarkably good condition at Township headquarters. The pistols were being reconditioned in an oil solution in a large metal drum.

APARTMENTS POSTPONED

Hearing in April. Developers who hope to build a 13-story apartment with 204 luxury units on Lower Alexander Street, were granted a postponement of their hearing Thursday night before the Township Zoning Board. The hearing will probably be held at the next regular board meeting on Thursday, April 18.

Park Lane Equities, Inc., of 44 Nassau, the firm that wants to build the apartments, has another kind of hearing scheduled for next Monday. The corporation has been asked to appear before the state's Water Policy and Supply Council to discuss the fill dirt piled onto the apartment site. The Township has charged that the fill was dumped into the area without the required special permit. The six acres of land lies in the flood plain of Stony Brook.

The zoning board on Thursday night renewed permission for the Antler Sportsmen's Club to use land on Herrontown Road owned by Benjamin M. Foose, Douglas Remsen, and Rudolf Ruedemann.

JOB "FETE" PLANNED For Young Job-Seekers. A job "Fete" will be held in mid-May under the spoosorship of the John-Witherspoon Citizens Association and the YWCA, and invitations have gone out to about 25 community leaders for a planning session to be held this Sunday at the "Y" from 3 to 5.

Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, president of the J.-W. group, Mrs. Jean Licklider, president of the "Y"'s board of directors and Mrs. Howard Waxwood Jr., executive director of the "Y", have invited Mayor Henry S. Patterson of the Borough, Mayor Carl C. Schafer of the Township, youth leaders, ministers of Negro churches and representatives of business firms and various clubs to attend.

"This is a community-wide venture," Mrs. Edwards says. At the May Fete, she plans to erect booths in the Y which will be manned by representatives of employers in the area. Teen-agers can talk with these men and women and, Mrs. Edwards hopes, line up summer jobs before school is out in June.

She already has a "yes" from Princeton Hospital, the Youth Employment Service, Fort Dix and the real estate office of Lawrence Norris Kerr, and she lists RCA, American Cyanamid, Opinion Research Corporation, the First National Bank, Princeton Bank and Trust, Bamberger's Princeton University, and McGraw Hill as others she hopes will join the Fete.

Goal: 100 Jobs. Mrs. Edwards' goal is jobs for 100 young people, black and white. Last summer, she obtained jobs for about three dozen teenagers at Fort Dix, where she herself works. For this summer, she has 50 Fort Dix jobs open and the Princeton youngsters to fill them; however, she says she'd rather see these teen-agers in jobs closer to home.

Working with Mrs. Edwards are Miss Mary Moore, Mrs. Sherman Bates and Bryan Moore, all of the J.-W. Association.

Mrs. Edwards' Job Fete grew out of a series of community dialogues held in the last ten days on ways to strengthen the civil rights of Princeton residents.

Jobs for young people in Princeton were given first priority at a recent meeting of Princeton's two mayors and representatives of various organizations concerned with civil rights. Mrs. Edwards has drafted a letter, which the mayors will sign, to all area firms asking them to provide summer jobs.

"I hope these companies will include ALL young adults in their job plans, not just Negroes although with special emphasis in Negroes," Mrs. Edwards says, "I say 'all' because we can't be a divided Princeton community."

On Monday, Princeton's two police commissioners, William H. Walker for the Borough and Burton Peskin for the Township, conferred with Gordon Mack YMCA official who is an expert in community relations, about ways to keep channels of communication open between police and community. Other meetings among the three men will be held during the spring.

Inspections under the Township housing code will be discussed by Mayor Schafer and Dr. William Kleinberg, chairman of the Township Board of Health. Dr. Kleinberg said this week he had not yet heard from Mayor Schafer, but would probably meet with him shortly. The health chairman is also scheduled to discuss housing inspection problems with Henry Drewry, president of the Princeton Association for Human Rights.

In the Borough, residents of the John-Witherspoon area have been disturbed by the Borough Board of Health's survey of rental units. Thomas McIlhenny, directing the survey for the board, hired students to make the survey, chiefly students from Westminster Choir College.

Mrs. Edwards says her organization believes qualified adults should have been hired rather than students. The Rev. Harold Thomas of Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, has expressed to Dr. J. Leonard Moore, chairman of the Borough health board, his concern that the "survey" was actually an "inspection" involving invasion of privacy.

"Dr. Moore assured me this is a 'survey' and not an 'inspection,'" the Rev. Mr. Thomas says, "but I think people in the community should have been hired to do the work, not Choir College students." He added that he regarded the survey as a "very positive" step in the enforcement of the housing code.

In another housing area, municipal officials are said to have agreed to consider an ordinance, requested by such organizations as PAHR, which would revoke a real estate agent's license if he discriminated against Negro tenants or buyers.

The possibility of a "community relations co-ordinator" has also been explored with mayors. Such a co-ordinator would pull together youth problems, recreation schedules, police activities and the like. The position was suggested as an alternative to a Human Rights Commission, which organizations like PAHR would like to see established in Princeton.

Also, human rights organizations would like Borough and Township to find out more about low-cost loans for upgrading property . . . look for ways to provide job training for Princeton people (both suggestions in the new Township Master Plan) . . . try to make public education more responsive to the needs of minority groups (PAHR is unhappy that the free summer school was cut from the school budget) . . . explore the University's new Urban Affairs department to see whether its experts can help the home town.

Letters on these questions will go to the Social Concerns Committees of Princeton churches in the hope that affirmative response from church congregations can reinforce municipal officials in matters that civil rights leaders regard as essentially "moral" questions.

BOARD MEMBER DIFFERS

On Teacher Policy. Disagreeing with school board procedure for re-appointing teachers, new board member William Z. Abrams declined to vote at the school board meeting Tuesday night on the routine teacher re-appointments for 1968-69.

Dr. Abrams said he didn't believe non-professionals like board members should pass judgment on professionals. He also suggested that board members might be subject to outside pressure, and he said that, since becoming a school board member, he had received nine complaints from parents about various teachers.

His fellow board member, Dr. Harvey Rohberg, explained that in approving the teachers' re-appointments, the board was simply acting upon the recommendation of the administration, as the law requires.

Herbert Bailey, board member, admitted that evaluation was a source of board concern. Earlier, Mrs. George Fremon, board president, said that the board has been discussing staff evaluation, and Superintendent Philip E. McPherson added that the teachers' association is working on ways teachers can evaluate teachers.

Tuesday's session, held at Littlebrook School in the first of a series of neighborhood school meetings, was attended by more than 60 persons.

The next public meeting of the board will be held on Tuesday, April 16, at Princeton High School. The subject will be vocational education.

High School Changes. Kenneth Michael, principal of the high school, described in detail a number of plans for breaking up the high school schedule next year and putting it back together again. Some proposals are ready to go and others are "only in the talking stage." Highlights:

● The present eight-period day will be changed to nine to provide 13% more classroom space in the over-crowded building. The high school is being pushed out of classrooms it has borrowed at John Witherspoon School, will lose one classroom to the new biology lab, and will probably have 10-20 more pupils next year. Club activities may be held across the street in the Baptist Church.

● English, gym and possibly science may be scheduled in double-period "blocks".

"We're questioning the system of rigid scheduling, "commented Dr. McPherson and Dr. Rothberg added, "We'd like to break into scheduling completely but we can't do it in the high school building we have now."

● A " House Plan" with 200 students and a dozen teachers forming a unit, is under consideration. It might be used only in the ninth and tenth grades to ease pupils into a big high school from a small middle school.

● "We'd like to say 'so what?' to the idea of class rank, but we're afraid to," Mr.

FOCUSING ON THE BANKING NEEDS OF THE PRINCETON AREA · FOR 75 YEARS · 1893 1968 75 years of service!

It's our anniversary. Three quarters of a century ago this month, the First National Bank of Princeton was founded. While it's customary to measure anniversaries in years, we'd prefer to measure ours in the number of Princeton-area families who have built for the future with savings deposited with us, the number of homes we've helped build with mortgage loans, the number of cars and boats and home improvements we've helped purchase. And we'd prefer to measure our history in the number of businesses and industries we've been able to serve with a full range of banking services. Above all, we'd prefer to measure it in the number of people who've found that banking is a friendly thing at Princeton's First National. But we're not just sitting back recalling the past, we're looking to the future, introducing the most modern banking techniques and equipment so that we may serve you better today and tomorrow than we were able to yesterday. We look forward to seeing you at our conveniently-located main office or at either of our branch banks, where you'll find plenty of free parking plus handy drive-in facilities.

News Of The THEATRES

. . . AND ONE MORE

New Play at McCarter. Repertory is complete, but the McCarter company decided to do just one more, for luck.

They will present the world premiere of a comedy written by an undergraduate at Princeton University in William McCleery's playwriting workshop.

It is John Burgess' "Mrs. Brenwalter's Indiscretion" and it will be given, free for all, in the McCarter rehearsal room after the April 5 performance of "The Marriage of Figaro."

Mr. Burgess, a junior, is actualy a math major, and he says he decided to join the playwriting workshop out of curiosity. This is, needless to say, his first script. It has been drawn from the works of Ambrose Bierce, and Mr. Burgess says he hopes the play will attract more attention to Mr. Bierce and maybe even popularize his writings.

Pamela Hawthorne, who directed "It Should Happen to A Dog," is directing for Mr. Burgess. Actors participating are Anne Gee Byrd, Bryan Hull, K. Lype O'Dell, Timothy Jerome, Yusef Bulos and Michael Leech.

TWO SHOWINGS AGAIN

Of "New Cinema." McCarter will continue its two-shows policy in the "New Cinema" series when Jean-Luc Godard's "All the Boys are Called Patrick" is shown on April 15. Reserved seats are now on sale.

On that Monday night, there will be showings at 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. Other films are programmed, too, from directors in Poland, Japan, England and Canada.

Poland's Valerian Borowczyk will be represented by two films, "The Concert of M. Kabal" and "Games of Angels." The English animator George Dunning will show "The Apple," his whimsical view of Sir Isaac Newton. Canada's Richard Ballentine and Gordon Shepard will be represented by their documentary study of Playbody's Hugh Hefner.

THE DRAMA IS MELLER

"Under the Gaslight." Community Players and McCarter Theatre will join hands for the production of a Victorian melodrama to benefit the treasury of the Princeton Hospital Fete. It is "Under the Gaslight," by — well, no matter. It will play a one-night stand at McCarter on Thursday, April 18, and tickets are on sale now at McCarter. Prices are $10, 9, $7.50 and half of each price is tax-deductible, as a donation to the Princeton Hospital Fete.

Arthur Lithgow will direct a cast led by Irene Rosenberg and James Marvel as Heroine and Hero. Bill Beattie and Scotty Bloch will be villain and villainess and Kate Litvak and James McDonald will fit in, too.

Others in the cast are Selika Conover, Mark Hamilton, Gerry O'Neil, Trevor Owens, Richard Rath, Chris Reeves, Natalee Rosenthal, Eric von Starck and Roy Thomas.

Shirley Rennie will be in charge of costumes, and Mr. Owens and the McCarter Theatre staff will be in charge of production.

O'NEILL TO BE SHOWN

"Long Day's Journey." Eugene O'Neill's autobiographical play, "Long Day's Journey Into Night" will be next in McCarter's Classic Film Series.

The 1962 film, directed by Sidney Lumet, will be shown next Tuesday at 8 p.m. Katharine Hepburn and Ralph Richardson portray Mary and James Tyrone, whom O'Neill drew after his own parents. Jason Robards Jr. and Dean Stockwell play the two sons. All four stars received Best Acting Awards from the Cannes Film Festival.

A SHAKESPEARE TRIP

"Midsummer," via LSD. Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be seen through the psychedelic vision of flower-children in the production that will be given in the Rider College Theatre next week.

from Tuesday through Saturday at 8 p.m. by the players of Rider College Theatre '29. It is '29's final production of the current season.

In this "Dream," young lovers high on LSD leave black and white reality for a world of brilliantly colored fantasy. Costumes and scenery will represent no particular time or place but have been chosen for theatrical quality

Billion Dollar Brain (now playing) is a mystery melodrama again starring Michael Caine as the hespectacled secret agent Harry Palmer.

The brain is a huge computer owned by a Texas super patriot, Ed Begley, who uses it to control his enormous private network of spies throughout the world. A somewhat cardboard character, Begley is poised to strike the blow that will defeat communism.

The plot turns on a small box of virus infected eggs which Caine and Kari Malden deliver to Finland on Begley's orders. Caine is then drafted by British intelligence and charged with intercepting the deadly viruses. Caine and Malden are alternately friend and enemy, and Francoise Dorleac is the hed partner of each. Oscar Homolka is the philosophical Russian security chief who develops violent opposition to Begley's secret army in Latvia. There's plenty of action and suspense.

GARDEN and GREENWOOD

Far From The Madding Crowd (now playing) Thomas Hardy's novel given an eye filling screen version with Julie Christie in the lead as Bathsheba Everdene. (Previously reviewed)

NEW STRAND

Blow-Up (thru. this Sun.) Director Michaelangelo Antonioni's cryptic film about a photographer who finds a corpse pictured in the background of a photograph he has taken at random in the park. In another blown-up picture, he sees what may be a hand with a gun protruding from the bushes.

A story line never develops clearly, although the inference is on the difference between appearance and the reality behind it. Vanessa Redgrave, cast as the lady who wants the pictures, does a half-nude scene. In another photographer David Hemmings is stripped by two young would-be models.

The direction is interesting unorthodox; the characters are well cast.

HERE'S PAUL TAYLOR To End Dance Series.

Paul Taylor's dance company will appear in Princeton on Sunday, April 7, at 3 p.m., just before leaving on its 15th foreign tour.

The group will appear as the closing event in the dance series jointly sponsored by McCarter and the Princeton Ballet Society.

For his Princeton program, Mr. Taylor has chosen "Aureole," set to music by Handel; "Sonderama," to a jazz score by Charles Taylor and his newest work, "Lento," to the chamber music of Haydn.

WHERE'S THAT CLOWN? Children's Show Planned.

"The Clown Who Ran Away" will be given Saturday at 2:30 at the Dutch Neck School, West Windsor, by the adult actors of the Pennington Players.

Children who come will be invited to join in the fun, because audience participation is always part of a Pennington Players' children's performance. The group has been giving plays for young audiences for eight years.

The cast includes Dodo the Clown, Gladys the Horse, two thieves and some mechanical dolls.

The West Windsor P.T.A., sponsor of the show, is selling tickets this week in school cafeterias at lunch time. They will also be on sale at the door Saturday. Price is 50c.

HAMLET SET FOR RUN

At Alexander Hall. Theatre Intime, in cooperation with the University Chapel, will present Shakespeare's "Hamlet," based on a specially-edited script providing a more complete production than normally offered.

Directed by Robert Rockwell, the performance will be given at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday, April 3-7, and again Saturday and Sunday, April 20 and 21, at Alexander Hall. A sophomore at the Uni-

FENCE ME IN

But Take Away the Crabgrass. Fencing so rustic that the bark is still on it, like hair on a chest, or fencing subtly woven in basketweave style from the smoothest cedar — That outlines the range of choice you have at a new place called Suburban Fence on the south side of Route One between Princeton and Lawrenceville.

That bark-covered fencing would make a great stockade, if you have frontiersmen defending the fort. It would also make splendid fencing if you have a lot of woodsy property to restrain.

You can also buy stockade fencing that is clean-shaven, of course, and cedar—I We mentioned the basketweave. There's also a fence with vertical cedar boards nailed on from either side of the posts, so that neighbors get the same right-side view of the fence as you do — a nice neighborly gesture.

And a cedar picket fence, which is unusual. And buckets of cedar, big and small, bound securely with brass to your outdoor plantings.

Pickets come in regular white picket style, too, and there are gates for all colors and styles.

Wire fencing? Naturally. We examined a placard showing 12 different kinds of wire to buy, including chicken-wire with those big holes, on down to the finest screening that ever kept out a gnat. Green vinyl binds some wire fences.

Inside the fence is a lawn. You have probably sown it with "New Jersey Suburbanite" grass seed, thoughtfully assembled for those peculiar soil characteristics you find in this part of the world. "Heritage House" is the lawn-and-garden company at Suburban Fence. "We have the cure for the 'common lawn'" reads the advertisement, and maybe they have.

At any rate, Suburban Fence recommends Heritage's two-step program to eliminate weeds. You start in early spring, which translates to "NOW" with Dacthal pre-emergent weed-killer.

Then in late spring, after you've caught your breath, you apply the systemic weed-and-feed that wipes out dandelions and 109 other weeds (there are 109 weeds? You must be kidding . . .) and feeds your lawn at the same time.

You'll have to mow this lawn, of course, but in between trims you can sit on your patio and admire the patio things you have bought at Suburban Fence. Here's a burro with cart (also available without cart) and an amusing little well house made of "stone" with a peaked roof just like the ones on old-fashioned wells.

Wrought iron accessories are elaborate or simple, and in great variety. Brackets hold the candles that will light your patio party. Hurricane lamps go on the table. Wrought iron candlesticks are for quiet evenings without a breeze, or for indoors later.

Here's a black iron horse's head to make a hitching post, and some wonderful copies of those long, old - fashioned wrought iron hinges.

Indoor or outdoor furniture at Suburban Fence has been hewn from heavy slabs of pine and stained dark. There is a giant slab of a coffee table, a rugged little three-legged stool, end tables, and even a wall clock, roughly whittled in old fashioned style. The finish on these pieces looks durable enough to take anything.

Suburban has imported some Spanish bookends of wood so dark it is almost black, very rough-hewn and rugged and certainly in order for a den or even a porch. A Spanish galleon sails on one set, a brutal-looking pair of maces decorates — if that's the word — a second pair of bookends and a globe of the world is on a third.

All this is in the gift shop around the "ell" from the fencing showroom. Suburban Fence is open daily until 2:30 and Saturdays until 1, so watch those hours if you plan to pay a visit.

LIKE COLONIAL?

Visit Carriage House. At 1676 North Olden Aveoue in Trenton, the Park Lane furniture store has opened a new section called Park Lane's Carriage House for people who enjoy the mellowness of Colonial and early American reproductions.

The manager and decorating staff have arranged 70 room displays to show you how much variety there is in early American interior design.

Pine furniture, to start, comes from Pennsylvania House, Sprague and Carlton, Vermont and Plymwood, and you'll find a room in pine arranged around a stone fireplace. (Cranberry is the accent color — how's that for "Early American!")

A more formal room is the dining room done in solid cherry, with a drake foot dining table copied from a 1750 table found in Hagerstown, Maryland. Notice that unusual leg, and the oval top, too. China is displayed in a cupboard behind imported glass made in Europe to resemble old panes.

Another formal room has a Chippendale sofa with the Marlborough leg characteristic of Chippendale's later designs. The Brandywine collection has been executed in wormy maple with a distressed finish, and Carriage House thinks it will have special appeal for those of you who are interested in the tradition of wood-craft.

That staircase at Carriage House, carpeted in red, shows off the cherry writing desk that stands at the top of the stairs. And the seven-foot chandelier shows you the way.

All in all, you can stroll through 12,000 square feet of display on the two floors, and then visit the Carriage House gift shop before you sit down with a member of the decorating staff to discuss exactly what you plan to do for your own home.

Store large valuables in safety for pennies a day

Heirloom silverware is almost like cash to a burglar. Valuable original paintings, your stamp collection, golf trophies, many sentimental objects all are vulnerable to the hit-and-run burglar, to fire or vandalism.

Where to protect large size valuables, when not at home?

The Princeton Bank vault is the answer! Only the Princeton Bank offers storage lockers that hold up to two suitcases full of valuables — over 5,000 cubic inches of safe deposit main vault protection for as little as one dollar a month. You have the only key. Think of it — absolute safety from theft and fire in the regular Princeton Bank vault for pennies a day.

Before you leave your valuables to tempt a thief, rent your own Storage locker at the Princeton Bank. But do it now — today — while a locker is still available to you. Be safe — not sorry.

versity, who has done the special script editing for the production. Mr. Rockwell directed Intime's earlier production this year of "Under Milkwood."

Peter W. Platten, a Princeton senior, who is bound next year for the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London, will be in the title role. He has been seen here in "The Caretaker," "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," and "Mr. Roberts," among others. Karl Light, Princeton reallor and professional actor, who has appeared here in productions by the Chapel Deacons and by the P.J. & B company will play Claudius, King of Denmark. Another profession al, Anne Sheldon, a veteran of McCarter Theatre productions, will play Gertrude, Queen of Denmark and mother to Hamlet.

Others among the cast of 27 include Robert Davis, an Oberlin student on leave and working here for a year with Theatre Intime, as Laertes; Giulia Pagano of New York and Linda Rodemaker of Trenton will alternate as Ophelia, and cast as Hamlet's friend Horatio is Scott Nye, a Princeton junior. Three Princeton faculty members will also have roles, Robert S. Knapp will be Polonius; Robert G. Peck III, Rosencrantz; and James McCaughey.

Executive producer is James W. Charrier, a Princeton junior; set designer and technical director is Richard Williams, a freshman. "This is the first serious student-run production of this scale to come out of Princeton in some years and we think we will have a creditable presentation by any standards," Mr. Charrier commented. "This production is in a way an experiment made possible only through the generosity of the University Chapel, and we hope that the response will support further endeavor along these lines."

It's New To Us

about Weathervane's long skirts, we mean good and long, right down to the hostess' own floor — not midi or calf.

These, of course, are the Anaki dresses or culottes from Sweden (well, the label says "New York and Stockholm") fashioned exquisitely of miraculous silk prints, the kind that shimmer even when they don't move. Lined, of course, with lace hem bindings and beautiful workmanship.

In style, the dresses are simple, with gentle U-necklines and no sleeves, but that color!

Midge Grant contributes to Weathervane's long skirt department, too. Her long print has a sleeveless white top with print buttons, and a snug waistline belt.

On the short side, we find Boe Jest's ridiculous little cotton skirts, sassy as they come. We like them in those sharp flower prints, but see how perky they are in bright solids! The belt, by the way, is a gros grain regimental stripe, very serious.

There are culottes, too, very short and nice and bright in colors like raspberry, which was the grandmother of shocking pink. Awning stripes bright enough to make the sun blink, manage to look sort of traditional, even in those colors.

Well, with these little skirts you wear Weathervane's quarter inch striped pullovers, supple enough to fold right into a suitcase. Color combinations extend to infinity.

For playing dress up, you'll want Weathervane's Banlon print, still in brilliant flower colors. The slinkiest one has long sleeves and a high, gathered collar which is a dressy version of a turtleneck.

A MATTER OF TASTE: Mrs. Thomas H. Paine (left) and Mrs. McKenty Bryan are among those planning the annual wine-tasting party party for Saturday, April 6.

Topics Of The Town

Michael said. School and school board are unhappy about the whole concept of class rank, and are working on a system to weigh a program so that a student with A's in easy courses wouldn't rank equally with a student who had A's in difficult courses.

● An "individual progress" plan will probably be adopted for the 150 students who do "D" and "E" work in Algebra I. Algebra would be divided into 10 units of three weeks each and a student would keep taking a three-week unit until he passed it. Then he would move to the next. All students who remained in the course would finish it eventually with a grade of C.

● To gain classroom space, 45 students may be assigned to a single class in math with two teachers. The portable classrooms are large enough, Mr. Michael said.

● Seniors may be given flexible schedules to prepare them for the broader freedoms of college. They might be freed from study halls to use language labs, or library.

● Study halls, now used only as a place to store students when no classrooms are available, may be re-designed so that teachers are assigned on a subject-matter basis and could serve as tutors to students in the study hall who want help.

● Across-the-board privileges for seniors were recommended by the principal, rather than privileges earned by making the honor roll.

The honor roll itself came in for some buffeting, especially the policy of releasing it for publication. The board decided to talk it over in executive session.

Name Personnel Mgr. In other business, the board announced that Russel T. Stanley has been appointed to the controversial position of Co-ordinator of Personnel Services. Mr. Stanley has been serving in this capacity.

The board has borrowed $75,200 at 3.12% interest to finance the private-parochial bus requirement. The state will reimburse the board for the $2,757.39 interest on the two notes, one due at the end of this year, one at the end of 1969. The money was borrowed from Princeton banks.

All new pupils entering the system this September must be immunized against measles unless they have already had the disease. Proof of immunity will be required.

The board has met with representatives of a group of 40 citizens interested in assisting the board. A member, Mrs. Victor Bruce, said the group wanted to get more people interested in public education.

TOWN TOPICS goes into every home and place of business in Princeton. By their own figures, no other newspaper does half as well.

WINE TASTING PLANNED

For Orchestra Benefit. Area connoisseurs have selected a variety of foreign wines for the annual wine tasting party to benefit the Princeton Chamber Orchestra. It will be held Saturday, April 6, at the Princeton Day Schools.

The wine selection committee, includes William F. Baanoi, John Gellner, George L. Mellor, Frederick C. Mezey, John H. Rassweiler, Steven B. Sharp and Lucius Wilmerding III. They have chosen vintage bordeaux, four premier grand cru's, and wines from several other countries. The wine will be accompanied by cheese.

Mrs. Steven B. Sharp is chairman of the benefit, sponsored by the orchestra's Women's Guild. She will be assisted by Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding III, decorations; Mrs. Robert Zenowich, program; and Mrs. Thomas H. Paine, staging.

Proceeds from last year's party will be used to give two concerts this year by the Princeton Quartet, whose members are drawn from the Chamber Orchestra. They will be held at Community Park School and Princeton High School.

AIDS IN ICY RESCUE

From Mount Washington. A 20-year old statistical engineer at the RCA Laboratories was credited this week with helping to save the lives of three students in peril on the icy slopes of New Hampshire's 6,300-foot Mount Washington.

Edward Nester of 25 Greenview Avenue was one of a four-man team of experienced climbers who brought the stranded trio to safety from a sheer ice ledge in Pinkham Notch. Zero temperatures and gale winds that reached 100 miles an hour provided the melodramatic setting.

The three young men, Jeffrey Damp and Donald Stallman, students at the University of New Hampshire, and Thomas Davis, a high school student in North Conway, were stranded Sunday when they were tossed onto the ledge by an avalanche. They were roped together at the time.

One of them managed to work his way down the ledge and walked a mile and a half to the nearest cabin. Mr. Nester and three others then ascended the rescue, reaching the stranded pair and lowering them by rope to the floor of Pinkham Notch. The victims suffered lacerations, possible rib fractures and frostbite during a night of exposure in the bitter cold.

BOGUS CHECKED CASHED

Bank Out $900. A check for $900 cashed March 8 at the 370 Nassau Street branch office of the First National Bank of Princeton was discovered Thursday by bank officials to be worthless.

The check was drawn on the 1st Trenton National Bank, payable to John Pirelli. It had been signed by Anthony d. Amato. The man cashing the

FORMER STUDENTS FINED

As Upshot of Drug Raid. Fifteen months after they were first arrested in a narcotics raid on the Princeton University campus, two students, who have since resigned from college, were fined this week in Mercer County Court.

Jonathan Reinis, 21, of Beverly Hills, Calif., was ordered to pay $1,500. He also received a suspended sentence of two to three years in State Prison. Seaton D. Purdom, 19, of Decatur, Ga., was fined $1,000. Both defendants pleaded guilty.

FOUR COATS TAKEN

From Trinity Church. Two women's and two men's coats were reported taken Monday night from a coatrack in Trinity Church's Pierce Hall.

Police said the women valued their coats at $100 and 75. The men did not wait to give their names, police added, and they have no description of their coats. The theft was reported at 10:26 p.m.

In other Borough thefts, Thomas Stanley of Freehold listed the theft of a $20 battery from his car while it was parked Monday in a Chambers Street lot, and Harry Palmer of Hopewell reported that about $40 was taken from his wallet Sunday while he was being treated at the Princeton Hospital dispensary.

Early in the week, Richard Colhush of Jamesburg told police that four hubcaps had been removed from his '66 Pontiac which had been parked in a Witherspoon Street Lot. He placed no value on them.

In an act of malicious mischief, police said that a beer bottle had been hurled Monday night through a 15 by 30 inch window of an office in the Houghton Building at 221 Witherspoon Street.

CARS COLLIDE ON NASSAU

Mrs. Urken Cut. Mrs. Eunice Urken, 56, 416 Nassau Street, owner of Urken's Supply Company, was cut on the forehead early Monday morning when the station wagon her son was driving was involved in a collision on Nassau Street at Markham Road.

Mrs. Urken was taken to Princeton Hospital in a patrol car where she received five sutures and was released. Her son, Irvin 17, was not injured.

Ptl. Gerald Patterson charged the second driver, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Graydon, 48, of Cranbury, with failing to heed a stop sign at the foot of Markham. Mrs. Graydon said that she had not seen the Urken car, entered the intersection and was struck on the side.

Nathaniel Edwards Jr., 28, of Trenton, was charged with careless driving Sunday after he ran into the rear of a line of traffic on Witherspoon Street between Spring and Nassau.

Mr. Edwards rammed the rear of a car driven by Mrs. Rosalie Fleury, 45, of Kendall Park, pushing it into a third car operated by Casper Hammonds, 45, of Trenton. Lisa Fleury, 6, received a bump on the head. She was taken to Princeton Hospital, examined for a possible concussion and released.

The entire front end of Mr. Edward's car was damaged. The motor and radiator of Mrs. Fleury's station wagon were dismounted as both cars had to be towed away. The three-car mishap took place shortly before 6 p.m.

Brake failure was blamed for the two-car collision Saturday morning at 10:55 in the rain at the intersection of Jefferson and Terhune Roads.

Mrs. Eleanor Nelson, 40, 140 Hun Road, was taken by patrol car to Princeton Hospital for treatment of a head laceration. Her car was demolished.

Mrs. George Hill, 26, of Hightstown told Ptl. David Funk that as she approached the foot of Terhune, she applied her brakes but they failed to hold. She entered the intersection, saw the Nelson car approaching on Jefferson and veered to the left — but not in time to avoid a collision. Her car was extensively damaged.

Ptl. Funk did not make any charges.

McCARTHY ENDORSED

By Community Democrats. The Princeton Community Democratic Organization has passed by a 92-18 vote, a resolution of support for Senator Eugene McCarthy.

The resolution, voted on at a P.C.D.O. meeting last Wednesday, pledges support of McCarthy delegates to the Democratic National Convention. Approximately 150 P.C.D.O. members attended Wednesday's meeting.

The vote does not present a clear picture of the P.C.D.O. stand since many of the 18 "nays" support McCarthy, but were voting against a rider asking Senator Robert Kennedy not to enter the New Jersey primary on June 4 and thereby split the party even more.

The P.C.D.O. also unanimously passed two resolutions on civil rights, one directed to the Federal government and one to the state, both urging implementation of recommendations in the Federal and state civil disorder reports. Included in the state resolution was a statement of support for a New Jersey graduated income tax.

USE VARIANCES SOUGHT

For Agency Doctor's Office. A pair of use variances to permit a travel agency and doctor's office and apartment in residential zones will be sought Thursday night at the monthly meeting of the Borough Zoning Board in Borough Hall.

Genunino Nassaro, a doctor, seeks to open an office and apartment at 32 Harrison Street North. Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Cook hope to operate a travel agency at 2 Hamilton Avenue. Both are located in residental zones.

Joan W. Shepard will ask for a side yard variance to permit construction of a rear porch at 28 Chestnut Street.

In a final case, Mayor and Council have asked the board to explain and possibly reconsider restrictions it made last month in a case involving 30-32 Mercer Street.

In granting Jeremiah Ford III, owner of the boarding house at 30-32 Mercer, permission to add a second family residence in the building, a rear porch and expand a garage, the board attached two conditions. It ruled that Mr. Ford must limit the number of boarders to six—he had sought 10—and that its approval would end after two years.

Mr. Ford and Council want to know why the board imposed its two-year and six-boarder limitations. And secondly, how realistic are they, the governing body asks.

Mr. Ford will be represented by attorney Sydney Souter. In his first appearance before the board, Mr. Ford, an architect, represented himself.

CENTER PLANS DRIVE

For Summer Program Funds. The Princeton Study Center is seeking contributions for its summer enrichment program, which last year tutored 30 junior high school students.

One tutor is needed for every two students, recommended to the Study Center by teachers and school guidance counselors. Thomas Carroll will direct the summer program again this year.

Hiring of staff members cannot begin until funds are raised for salaries. Contributions should be made out to the Princeton Study Center and mailed to Peter Gross, Prettybrook Road.

INDICTMENTS REPORTED

Against Samuel DeCavalcante. A 17-month investigation by three federal agencies, including the FBI, into organized racketeering in New Jersey has resulted in the indictment on three charges of Samuel DeCavalcante of 1015 Mercer Road.

He was indicted in Newark Thursday on one charge of conspiracy and two which allege violation of the federal anti-rackets law. He furnished the stipulated bail of $50,000 and was released.

The federal indictment charges that DeCavalcante was an associate of two Brooklyn men who were participating in a dice game in September 1966 with four others, and that DeCavalcante's operatives suddenly drew pistols and held up their competitors. The indictment further charges that the quartet of victims was later warned either to make further payments or risk further holdups.

Subsequently, two of the men who were allegedly the targets of the extortion reportedly met with DeCavalcante at Swift's Colonial Diner on Route 1. Inasmuch as federal officials claim they came from Philadelphia, and therefore crossed state boundaries, the charge is made that such a journey violated the anti-rackets law prohibiting "travel in interstate commerce" for criminal purposes such as extortion.

U.S. Attorney David M. Satz Jr. said that when DeCavalcante was arrested, federal agents took three pistols and a shotgun from his office. Known as "Sam the Plumber," he operates a plumbing business in Kenworth.

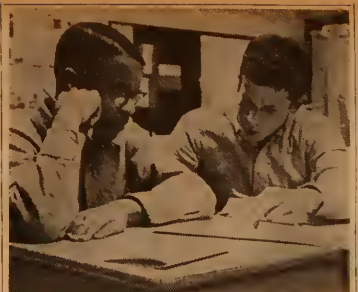
The pair from Brooklyn, Daniel Annunziato and Gaetano D. Vastola, were indicted at the same time as DeCavalcante, and all three are scheduled for arraignment Friday. Each count of the indictment carries a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

DeCavalcante was named last year in Life Magazine as a leader of the Mafia in New Jersey. He is currently awaiting trial in Trenton municipal court on charges of falsifying his application for a driver's license.

SOTO HEARING APRIL 5

Wrangle Continues. Jose Soto, 29, suspected slayer of bank teller Kirsti Pfister, remains in Somerset Jail in Somerville, as federal authorities and Mercer County continue to wrangle over which of them will have the honor of trying him for her murder.

Soto's arraignment in Mercer County Court has been set for next Friday, April 5. However, his appearance seems tentative because federal authorities say they will not bring him to Trenton unless they have approval from the director of federal prisons in Washington, D. C.



IT'S A GOOD WAY TO LEARN: Tutor Steve Cohen of the Princeton Study Center stresses a point to Phil White, a ninth grade student at Princeton High School.

Reminder for Landlords

The Township Board of Health this week reminded landlords of a state law passed last October protecting tenants who complain about housing violations, against landlords who try to get even.

If a landlord takes reprisals against a tenant who reports a building code violation to municipal authorities, or if the landlord even threatens such a reprisal, he can be fined as much as $250 and sent to jail for a maximum of six months or both.

If, within a period of three months after the tenant has made his official complaint, the landlord raises his rent or tells him to move out, or reduces his heat or doesn't collect the garbage — that's reprisal.

Borough Chief Peter J. McCrohan, back in town after attending a two-week course in handling civil disturbances at the Police Academy in Sea Girt, said at his press conference Tuesday that he can't understand why the federal government persists in wanting to handle the case.

Chief McCrohan reported that he had talked with Mercer County Prosecutor Vincent Panaro on Thursday. "It is still quite definite that we are going to try this case," he said. He added that Mr. Panaro had written the attorney general's office in Washington explaining the county's position in the case.

Chief McCrohan also took exception to statements that the bulk of the investigation had been handled by the FBI. "I want to contradict that," he said. "All of the evidence, and I mean all, was procured by men in our department. We've done our job. Now it's entirely between Panaro and the federal attornies."

EUROPE BY BUS — THE MODERN WAY: This luxury motorcoach is used by American Express to provide tours through Europe in complete comfort. It will be on view at a number of locations in Princeton on Monday. Story, this page.

BUSINESS In Princeton

DELUXE BUSES TO VISIT

For American Express. American Express, 10 Nassau Street, will sponsor a visit of its newly designed continental motorcoach, on Monday.

The buses feature individual air conditioning, a refrigerator for wine and fruit, double floors to dull noise, and air-suspension springs. The driver and guide who will bring it to Princeton are fluent in five languages and veterans of European tours.

The bus will be at the Princeton Shopping Center 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the American Express office from 1 to 5 p.m., and at the Palmer Inn from 7 until 10 p.m.

A film on the American Express European tour will be shown at the inn at 7, 8 and 9 p.m., Monday night.

SALES UP, NET DOWN

At Applied Research. Sales were up 18% but earnings dropped 28% during 1967, Princeton Applied Research Corp. reported at its annual meeting. A gross profit of $1,912,931 resulted in per share earnings of $5.29, compared to $6.79 a year earlier.

Emil W. Lehmann, president of the Princeton-based instrument firm, attributed the lower net to federal budget cutbacks late in 1967 and to a 65% increase in the cost of product development. Dr. Thomas Coor, vice-president and director of research and development, said that current emphasis on new product development has accelerated the rate at which new instruments are offered, and should benefit long-range growth.

The past year was marked by establishment of a French sales subsidiary, and the opening of a branch sales office in the Washington, D. C., area. Orest C. Chaykowsky is the firm's vice-president for marketing and sales.

ARCHITECT NAMED

To State Society. J. Robert Hillier, 333 Nassau Street, has been accepted into corporate membership in the New Jersey Society of Architects, a regional association of the American Institute of Architects.

Mr. Hillier's firm recently completed designs for the Somerset Baptist Church, the Who's Who Building in downtown Chicago, and a residential complex for Fairleigh Dickinson University. Current designs include a dormitory at Drew University and a dining hall and student center at Fairleigh Dickinson.

Mr. Hillier, whose office is located at 44 Nassau Street, is licensed to practice in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and Illinois.

NEW LASER DEVELOPED

By RCA Scientist. Dr. P. David Southgate, 41 Turner Court, working under Dr. Kern K. N. Chang in RCA's Microwave Laboratory, has developed a new solid state electroluminescent laser, the simplest yet devised.

The new laser's simplicity, in both construction and operation, could lead to significant advances in scientific understanding of solid-state lasers and how they work, according to Dr. James Hillier, vice president of RCA. If its power output and efficiency can be improved sufficiently, the new laser might someday be employed in burglar alarms, rangefinding and data handling equipment.

MORT BARISH NAMED

Wins Tek-wave Account. Tek-wave Inc. has selected Mort Barish Associates, Inc., 22 Chambers Street, to handle its advertising, sales promotion and public relations. Located on Raymond Road, Kingston, Tek-wave manufactures microwave components.

DOUGHERTY APPOINTED

To Head New Program. Dougherty Associates, Inc., has been appointed to head a national and international communications program for the Institute for Corporate Diversification Ltd., a New York based firm which serves as a liaison between companies wishing to spin-off products and those wanting to diversify.

Dougherty Associates will concentrate on marketing-oriented public relations for the Institute, reaching domestic and international companies who are interested in expansion by acquiring fully-developed products already in the marketing stage.

MRS. BENEDICT NAMED

To Advisory Committee. Mrs. Bette Benedict, director of public relations and advertising for Creative Playthings, Inc. will serve on the Public Information Advisory Committee of the New Jersey Division of Vocational Education.

A graduate of Cornell University, Mrs. Benedict has been with Creative Playthings for four years. She was formerly public relations associate for Restaurant Associates, Inc. of New York.

Created to inform the public about new trends, approaches and developments in vocational education, the division established a public information unit in 1966. Its purpose has been to promote the image of business and distributive education.

ART — REGIONALIZED

Schools Join in Show. An exhibition-demonstration of original prints and print making by contemporary artists will be held next Wednesday, April 3, to inaugurate an art show which will tour all Princeton public schools.

The demonstration will be held at the John Witherspoon School early enough — 7:30 p.m. — for children to attend with their parents. The exhibit, in whole or in part, will eventually travel to all Princeton public schools.

Sponsors are all the Princeton Regional P.T.A.'s and P.T.O.'s and it is the first total, joint effort of all parent teacher groups since regionalization.

Prints by artists from this country and abroad, have been obtained from the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton, and the Princeton Regional district is one of the first school districts in the state to take advantage of the museum's selection. The goal: to bring original art of high caliber to school children at all age levels.

Display panels from the museum will show samples of the plates and basic raw materials used to make a wide variety of prints, including lithographs, etchings, collographs and so on.

Local Artists Also. The museum's selection will be augumented by the work of Princeton artists, several of whom will participate in Wednesday's demonstration program.

During the evening, Judith Brodsky, Trudy Glucksberg and Helen Schwartz will use a portable printing press; Peter and Shirlee Loret and Helen Gallagher will demonstrate silk screen; Eileen Shahbender will show how to prints from plaster; Lore Lindenfeld will do robbings and Margaret K. Johnson will demonstrate one of her many graphic skills.

In addition, students of the third, fourth and fifth grades under Theodore Lynch, will be working in the art room at John Witherspoon.

Princeton artists who will be represented in the exhibit are Helga Nergaard, Dorothea Greenbaum, Jean Mastaxides, Ann Gross, Joan Needham, Pat Kerr, Marvin Leavitt, David Savage, Yvonne Burk, Jan Schwerer, Marie Sturken, Ruth Ann Willard, Anita Benarde, Ruth Sharon, Fred Siebelts, Elis Vehkovsky and Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Brodsky, Mrs. Schwartz and Mrs. Glucksberg.

FOUR ARE FINED

For Dogs in Schoolyards. Three Township residents were fined $10 each and another $20 last week by Township Magistrate Glenn B. Miller Jr. for allowing their dogs to run loose on school property in violation of a Township ordinance.

They are Charles Nesler, 24 Southern Way; Joseph F. Hermann, 630 Lake Drive; Lawrence P. Thompson, 611 Lake Drive; and E. G. Merrick Jr., 316 Riverside Drive. Mr. Merrick was fined $20 for allowing his dog to run loose on two separate days.

The summonses were issued by James W. Doherty, Township dog control officer. The violations took place at River side School.

"We're going to hit each school, one by one," warned Mr. Doherty. "We're starting to crack down. And the fines are going to go up! They're low now because this is the first time," he added.

In Borough court Monday, Magistrate Theodore T. Tams fined Angelo Cenerino 2d, 17, 492 North Harrison Street, $15 for careless driving.

A charge of possession of alcohol by a minor in criminal court against Christopher S. Wright, 18, 42 Murray Place, was dismissed. Police had discovered alcohol in his car, but he told Magistrate Tams that he didn't know it was there at the time of his arrest.

SUMMER SESSION SET

For Lawrenceville School. A six week summer program will be presented again this year by the Lawrenceville School, for both male and female secondary school students.

Running from June 24 through August 2, the six week program is designed for enrichment and study in depth, rather than establishing credit at the student's secondary school. Any arrangements for credit must be made between the individual and his respective school.

Students take courses totaling 15 hours of classes each week. Ten-hour major courses include "Contemporary World Theatre and the Crisis of Modern Man" and "Urban Development and Problems." Minor courses, which meet for five hours a week, include "Racial and Ethnic Relations in the U.S.," "The Film as a Social and Personal Document," and "Sociology — Alienated Youth and the Search for Identity." A total of 15 major and 15 minor courses is offered.

The faculty for the summer session is drawn not only from the Lawrenceville School, but from colleges, high schools, and other independent schools.

All facilities of the school will be available during the summer, including the library, science laboratories, golf course, and tennis courts. Students will be housed in school dormitories.

The tuition fee for the six-week period is $300. Boarding students must also pay $300, which will include room, meals, bed linen, and towels. Financial aid is available, however, for those who need it.

Further information on the program may be acquired through the Director, Lawrenceville School Summer Session, Lawrenceville, N. J. 08648, or by telephoning 896-1844.

DRURY SHOW PLANNED

At Canal Studio. The Studio on the Canal will present a show of paintings by John Drury through April 7.

Mr. Drury began his art career studying with Lester Cook of Princeton Group Arts, continuing at the Newark Academy of Fine Arts and Studio on the Canal. A member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, he has been mentioned in Who's Who, and has headed Princeton Community Players and the Princeton Art Association.

The studio exhibit may be seen weekdays from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m., with no evening hours Sundays.

VARIED COURSES SET

For Rocky Hill Classes. The Rocky Hill Community Group will offer courses in art, crafts, and hobbies in its spring session, to begin Monday, April 15. Non-members may join classes for a small registration fee.

The spring schedule is currently being worked out by group president Mrs. Charles Allen and the classes committee, which includes Mrs. Warren C. Clement, Mrs. James C. Gilroy, Mrs. Ernest Myers and Mrs. David H. Plank. The committee is also planning courses for next fall, and would appreciate suggestions.

Most courses meet at the Amy Garrett House, a 17th century home being restored by the group for use as a community center and library.

Obituaries

Mrs. Marie G. H. Jarvis, formerly of 21 Wilson Road, died March 22 in Merwick. Born in Pennsylvania, she lived in Princeton for most of her life. She was the widow of Arthur W. Jarvis.

Mrs. Jarvis, whose first husband was the late A. Thornton Baker Jr., was a member of Trinity Episcopal Church and the Princeton Historical Society. She was active in a number of Princeton charities, the Episcopalian home for the elderly, "The Evergreens"; St. Martin's House, Bernardsville; and during World War II, British war relief. Her home during her early years is now occupied by the Textile Research Institute.

Surviving are four children, Alfred T. Baker 3d, Hobart Baker, Henry W. H. Baker and Mrs. Clement Jacomini; 14 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The service was held in Trinity Episcopal Church. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Charlie C. Potter of Skillman died March 25 in Princeton Hospital. A long-time teacher in the Princeton Borough school system, she was the wife of Clarence W. Potter, her only near survivor.

A native of Charles Town, W. Va., Mrs. Potter lived in Princeton for 40 years. She retired in June 1964 as a teacher at the Nassau Street School. She was a member of Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, serving as a ruling elder, choir member, chairman of the worship committee and director of the church-time nursery.

A charter member of Phi Delta Kappa, a national sorority, Mrs. Potter and her husband organized in 1962 the Potter Foundation which provides facilities for minority ethnic groups.

A memorial service will be held at 4 Friday in Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Harold A. Thomas officiating. Interment will be in Princeton Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be sent to Witherspoon Church.

Mrs. Patricia W. Rhoades, 49, of 225 Hun Road, died March 25 in Princeton Hospital. She was the wife of John H. Rhoades.

Born in Chicago, Mrs. Rhoades was a lifemember of the Chicago Art Institute and of the Princeton YWCA. She was a member of Trinity Church, Bedensbrook Club and Onwentsia Club of Lake Forest, Ill.

Also surviving are a daughter, Miss Barbara H. Rhoades, at home; two sons, Lynn of Appleton, Wis., and John W. of Ann Arbor, Mich., and two brothers, Theodore M. Wilson of Elmhurst, Ill., and Robert H. Wilson of Lake Forest, Ill.

A private service will be held this Thursday, the Rev. Reuel S. Kaighn Jr. of Trinity Church officiating. Interment will be in the Trinity-All Saints' Cemetery under direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be sent to Hiroshima Peace Center Associates, c/o Norman Cousins, Saturday Review of Literature, 380 Madison Avenue, New York 10017, to benefit the Albert Schweitzer Hospital at Gabon.

Edward Boyd of 32 Birch Avenue, died on March 22. A Princeton resident for the past 62 years, he was born in Manning, S. C.

Mr. Boyd was former treasurer of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, past master of Aaron Lodge 9 F&AM; King David Chapter 9, the Royal Arch Masons; Douglas Commandery 10, Knights Templar, Ophir Consistory 48 and the Khufu Temple 120 of Shriners.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Elsie Boyd; a granddaughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilton of Trenton; four great-grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Alice Richards and Mrs. Bertha Hawkins of New York City and Mrs. Sadie Deston of Belmar, and a brother, Leon Boyd of the Bronx, N. Y.

The service was held in Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Harold A. Thomas, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery under direction of the Hughes Funeral Home.

Henry N. Longstreet, 64, died suddenly March 23 at his home, 665 Brunswick Pike, Penns Neck. He was the husband of Mrs. Winifred G. Longstreet.

Born in Lawrenceville, Mr. Longstreet was employed by the Naval Air Propulsion Test Center, Trenton, for the past 8 years. He lived in Princeton for 43 years and was a member of the Reardon Rod and Gun Club of Trenton. He served in the Navy during World War II.

Also surviving are his moth

A Visitor's Viewpoint.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have sent to Mayor Henry Patterson:

After hearing several friends discuss the fine shops in Princeton, after hearing and reading many advertisements inviting shopping in pleasant Princeton, I finally did journey over 50 miles to shop in Princeton, March 22, 1968, was the day I visited that fair town.

I did visit several shops. While doing so, I found it very convenient to park my auto on the street in a parking meter area. During my shopping, I returned to the meter to deposit required sums.

As I was nearing the end of my tour, I was in a shop in plain view of my auto. To my amazement, one of Princeton's fine officers was apparently writing a ticket for my car.

Since my meter had an abundance of time remaining, I went and asked the officer the reason for the ticket. He cited an ordinance number and stated I had been meter feeding. His explanation of meter feeding came after I inquired what that meant.

Sir, I am a law abiding individual. I was a visitor and depended on the traffic signs to advise me of the parking laws. Those signs in the area in which I parked did not do that. Neither the signs nor the parking meter state that you must move your auto after you have parked one hour.

In view of the inconsistency between the posted regulation and the written regulations, I ask that you rescind the charges on Summons H-39905. A self-addressed envelope is enclosed for your use in mailing back my check.

It would appear reasonable to have the Chamber of Commerce and the Borough work out an arrangment whereby a shopper could visit several shops, put money in the meters and not be required to assist the Borough other than indirectly through purchases made at the shops.

It is one thing to have the fine personal attention from the shopkeepers, but not so pleasant a thing to receive the same from the Police Department. . . .

A Teenager's Viewpoint.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Last week we saw a Bette Davis film, and talked the whole way through. We commented on the costumes, and the direction, and argued loudly about casting, characterization and plot development. We thoroughly enjoyed ourselves, but since were were watching the telly in our own living room, we didn't disturb anyone else.

When the average high schooler watches 'I Spy' or 'Gunsmoke', he is free to shout whistle, groan, bounce, and walk about dripping peanut butter. Why should we expect him to behave differently when he is watching live theatre?

If McCarter student audiences were transported back 300 years (I'm sure many of the actors would love to arrange it), they would feel completely at home. In those days an audience stood in broad daylight, ready to fling eggs at an actor who didn't please them. Why should we expect them to maintain a reverent hush in the relative anonymity of a darkened auditorium?

McLuhan has pointed out that TV has viewers Pavlov-trained to an attention span of 15 minutes, with sudden breaks for commercials. So for wriggling teenagers I suggest short active plays with two intervals at crucial moments in the plot so they can't wait to see the curtain rise again. Yes, bring back the curtain!

Another way to avoid the student-audience-problem is for the kids to know the actors as real people. In small groups — if necessary chained together to eliminate pilfering — they should be put into the rehearsal room (which is relatively indestructable) with as many technicians and costumed actors as are willing to have their brains picked. Then remove all the teachers.

I'm not advocating a formal conducted tour, but a nitty-gritty dialogue; because you are less likely to throw a paper airplane at someone you have just been chatting to on a first-name basis. Having a select handful of actors on local TV or WHWH is too remote for these switched-on youngsters.

They don't appreciate a Living Library any more than they appreciate antiques. But they are being told, in effect, "This play was written X number of years ago, by the great XYQ; and yea verily, thou shalt like it!" And if last weeks correspondent could have his way there would be a "rigid system of discipline" enforced by the ushers. This is Live Theatre, kiddies; don't look now, but your've being cultured.

It is obviously not enough to give active teenagers plays about gods they have scarely heard of, and points of character they have not yet encountered — and expect them to sit still with their mouths shut. If it is worthwhile for them to understand theatre, McCarter must be prepared to go a lot further out of its way. This would involve a risk to property, personalities, performances, schedules and the actors' mystique. Would it be worthwhile?

Police Actions Upheld.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

In your issue of March 7 you published a letter from a Mrs. Margaret D. Ortiz under the heading "Police Arrogance Charged." Mrs. Ortiz claims injustices perpetrated on citizens (herself) by the police. Such a charge cannot pass without examination.

The first count in her indictment is that, on a snowy night she was not given permission to leave her car on the street (quote) "I was unable to park the car in our driveway." The reason why she could not use her driveway is not stated.

Her car apparently was in working order as she drove to a nearby gas station where she parked overnight. For this denial of her request she claims a foul.

The answer is that no one is allowed to park on the street all night when the snow removal crew will be out. Ordinarily, if a reasonable excuse for the privilege is given, such a courtesy is extended, but never when it would mean blocking streets during a snow storm.

This goes for Mrs. Ortiz, the Mayor, the Chief of Police and the Borough Councilmen as well. Too many people, seeking to avoid the risk of having to shovel out of their drives in the morning, made an inflexible rule imperative when street clearing was made necessary by storm. Claim of foul not allowed.

Count number two does not state weather conditions. A "locked transmission" froze the car wheels. They had themselves pushed 40 feet to the side of the road as was shown by the skidmarks. Later it appears this was a metered area, ergo a busy one, where strict parking rules must be enforced.

Mrs. Ortiz claims "no tow truck was available that evening" so they left a note on the car. They got a ticket for all night parking, and, as the tow truck they ordered came late, they also got another ticket for overtime parking next morning in a metered zone. The magistrate would not let them explain their case.

Without more knowledge some of this is harder to refute, but I have been under the impression that round the clock towing service is available, though perhaps not by the servicer favored by Mrs. Ortiz. A call to the police would have elicited the name of one who was.

As to the magistrate, I am informed that he has never enforced two tickets for the same offense if a slip-up by the police should cause such a contingency to arise, but he cannot be expected to turn his court into a debating society, especially on a straightforward violation of an ordinance or, as it would seem in this case, two ordinances. The respondent may state his case and his counsel, if any, may speak.

Is it possible that Mr. Ortiz had already spoken before the magistrate squelched Mrs. Ortiz? Foul also disallowed, although perhaps with a shade of sympathy.

Finally, Mrs. Ortiz's accusation that the police abuse the law by using it as a club to extract revenue, and oppress the citizens, is way out of order, and her snide remarks about needing to know the right people and "find a fixer in the police force" constitute a gratuitous insult for which there can be no excuse. Mrs. Ortiz says she has lived in a number of municipalities in four other states and never encountered such treatment, but as her gripe here seems based only on the fact that she is not granted special favors, there would seem to be a very simple solution to the problem, even though it may be a blow to her ego. Also, she will find Chief McGrohan a very sincere fellow, and an apology, given with good grace, would, I am sure, be graciously accepted.

JOHN P. POE
The Great Road

Private Busing Supported.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I keep thinking someone who is well informed will answer these people who keep chipping away at the school busing law — but so far . . . silence. Can it be that everyone is in agreement with the illustrious President of the League of Women Voters (Town Topics, March 14, 1968), who wants to repeal this law? Or are they like me — too bogged down with work, children and housework to do much more than plop in a chair and tune in TV at the end of the day?

One of the God given responsibilities of parents is the education of their children. Most people want the best for them — for some this means one thing — for others another. Some, like myself want their children educated in an atmosphere that includes religion. Such services to the child as a bus ride to school do not benefit the school — only the child — and the parent who is sometimes hard pressed to make ends meet.

In this free country of ours, we should all have a freedom of choice between public, private or church related schools. If the question of transportation keeps a family from sending its child to the school of its choice, they are being denied that freedom.

We who support a private or parochial school system are also taxpayers, who see their tax dollars going to support pubic education. This is the way it should be. Each child in our community should have an adequate education. I say "adequate" — not "super adequate!"

About a month ago, a man wrote a thoughtful letter to this paper criticizing some of the items in the Regional School Budget and suggesting the elimination of some things he feels are not necessary. You could tell from his letter that he had done some careful research. Not many of us have the time or energy to dig in like that, but the defeat of the school budget is an indication that many people have the uneasy feeling that some changes should be made.

BUT PRIVATE SCHOOL BUS TRANSPORTATION SHOULD NOT BE ONE OF THEM!

I know that this law has created gigantic problems for the public school administrators, and if my experience with them is any guide, they have been patient, helpful and most cooperative. Maybe there are things that should be changed to make the law fairer and more practical — but it should not be repealed!

The esteemed President of the League of Women Voters thinks that eliminating the expense of busing private school children should be one of the things chopped from the budget. I remind her that if enough exasperated parents decide to transfer their offspring to public schools — her tax bill and the school budget will soar!

She also states that the money saved by not busing private school children could be better used to combat riots and poverty in our cities. I agree with her that it would be a worthy cause, but is she naive enough to believe it would be so used?

I have always felt that the League of Women Voters did a fine service for the community with their impartial information on candidates at Election time. My opinion of them has dropped several notches. I guess they are just another pressure group.

I urge all who care about the welfare of the child, regardless of his school to write to Senator Sido Ridolphi or your assemblyman in Trenton. Tell them you want this law to stay on the books, that S-340 and A-342 which would repeal it do not have your support.

MILESTONE: Mrs. Frank Scott (center), an administrative aid at Princeton University, is the 100th member of the Business & Professional Women's Club. With her, above, are Mrs. R. Roy Geddes, (left) BPW president, and Miss Alice Braveman, membership chairman. Since Mrs. Scott joined, five more career women have been accepted as members.

What's the catch?
There isn't any.
$1,699 is the suggested retail price of the port of entry for the VW sedan
The price includes Federal excise tax and import duty.
It also includes the built-in heater/defroster, windshield washer, electric windshield wipers, outside rear view mirror, and seat belts front and back.
Not to mention the padded dash and front seat headrests.
It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model.
What else do you have to pay?
The charge for transporting the car from the port of entry. The dealer delivery charge. And local sales tax.
There is one optional that makes a lot of sense. The matching leatherette upholstery. For $30.00 extra. (Nearly everybody gets it because it eliminates the need for slipcovers.)
Well, that's it.
Unless, of course, you count the cost of gas and oil it takes you to get here in your present car.

A Time to Remember

Once again, TOWN TOPICS takes pleasure in listing the names and addresses of men and women from the Princeton area serving with the U.S. armed forces and Red Cross units overseas. Far from home and their families, they would enjoy a letter from anyone who will take the time. The cost is 10c, the price of a domestic air mail stamp.

Each month, a drawing is held by the residents of Merwick from the names on TOWN TOPICS' list. The family of the winning serviceman is entitled to a free, three-minute phone call to their son in Vietnam, through the kindness of Communications Workers of America, Local 1000.

Servicemen's families may also tape record a message to their son without charge at the University Store. "Come in at any time" is the word from Frank Durkin, manager of the Radio Television Department, who makes the offer. Arrangements may also be made to tape record at home if necessary.

Those knowing someone in Vietnam who is not listed are invited to send his name, rank, serial number and address to TOWN TOPICS, P.O. Box 664.

PROMOTED: Edward H. Morgan Jr., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Morgan of 25 Westerly Road, has been promoted to captain. He is commanding officer of the 6314th Support Wing, an Air Force radar installation atop a 4,000-ft. mountain at Dongmun San, Korea, some 30 miles below the 38th Parallel. Through a series of fortuitous circumstances, his bride, Judy, is teaching fifth grade in the Seoul Foreign School.

WINNERS: Pvt. Jeff Klockner (left), son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Klockner of Denow Road, and Sp/4 John A. Vaccarinu, son of Mrs. Grace Vaccarino of Hopewell, are the winners of free telephone calls home in the monthly drawings held at Merwick by TOWN TOPICS and CWA Local 1000. Pvt. Klockner, 18, is stationed at Bien Hoa in the Mekong Delta; Sp/4 Vaccarino, 20, whose mother is a familiar face at the Princeton University Store, has been a communications operator in Vietnam for the past year and has been reassigned to Germany. The winning names were drawn by Miss Sarah M. Hodge and Mrs. Florence Picken, Merwick residents.

CHAIRMAN NAMED

For Community College. Dr. Richard Pearson, 39 Tyson Lane, has been elected chairman of the board of trustees at Mercer County Community College. He succeeds the late Alan W. Bowers, who died last month.

A graduate of Yale, Dr. Pearson is president of the College Entrance Examination Board. He formerly was vice chairman of the MCCC Board. Mrs. Peggy K. McNeil, president of the Trenton Times Newspaper, is secretary.

THREE LOSE LICENSES

Under Point System. Three Princeton area drivers have had their licenses suspended by the state's Division of Motor Vehicles for exceeding the point limit.

They are R. Braddock Dinsmore, 65, Lawrenceville Road, and James R. Hagadorn Jr., 25, Hollow Road, Skillman, both for three months, and Kenneth R. Matthews, 21, Featherbed Lane, Hopewell. Mr. Matthews surrendered his license for two months.

BENEFIT EVENING SET

By Historical Society. A benefit evening featuring a candlelight dinner at the Nassau Inn and a special showing of the award-winning Swedish film, "Elvira Madigan," at the Playhouse has been planned by the Historical Society of Princeton for Tuesday, April 9. Chairman of the dinner is Mrs. Daniel K. Herrick.

Assistanting her are Mrs. Frederick S. Osborne, Mrs. M. F. Healy Jr., Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding Jr., Mrs. Robert F. Michael, Mrs. Arthur P. Morgan and Mrs. Porter N. Lea, who is in charge of decorating the Prince William Room for the occasion. Mrs. Norbert Considine Jr. is handling publicity for the affair.

Boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Luiz Jr., 6-B Hampton Arms Apartments, Hightstown, March 10; Mr. and Mrs. Knut Riebensahm, 230 Plaza Boulevard, Morrisville, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Terrence Byrne, 53 E. Curlis Avenue, Pennington, both on March 11; Mr. and Mrs. Luis Lopez-Molina, 5-K Magie Apartments, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buchanan, Millstone River Apartments, both on March 13; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tobert, 10 Symmes Court, Cranbury; Mr. and Mrs. David Rector, 11 Crescent Avenue, Rocky Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Godehardo Calleja, 7-Z Hibben Apartments, all on March 14; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Pellick, 21 High Acre Drive, Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wood, 8 Marilyn Drive, Cranbury; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wixted, Village Road, Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Marco, Bear Tavern Road, Titusville, all on March 15; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miller, E-33 Princeton Arms, Cranbury; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shimkus, 1 William Street, Jamesburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allen, 14 Mountain View Road, Lambertville, all on March 16.

PCH RE-ELECTS HEAD

At Annual Meeting, Theodore M. Vial was re-elected president of Princeton Community Housing, Inc., at the recent annual meeting of the non-profit housing corporation.

Other officers elected include W. Donald Rugg, first treasurer, James A. Floyd, vice president, and Mrs. James Graves, secretary. All offices are one-year terms.

Princeton Regional Teachers Association has become the 18th PCH sponsor. David Mackey will represent the teachers on the board of trustees.

Other trustees elected at the annual meeting include John C. Borden, Jr., Jackson P. English, Salvatoro L. DiDonato, J. C. Blumenthal, George C. Alexander, Sherman Bates, Mrs. Estelle T. Johnson, Mrs. Benson Carlin, Thurland T. Wilkinson, Minot C. Morgan, Jr., W. E. Lawder, J. A. Farrington, Arlo D. Duba, Robert D McGilvra, Robert M. Hendry, David Hapgood, and H. Philip Minis.

"It is encouraging to pause at this milestone and glance backward at the progress we have made in the last few months," Mr. Vial commented. "We have come this far thanks to the devoted efforts of our trustees, other members of our sponsoring organizations, our professional experts and the representatives of municipal and state bodies. But we are just starting on our mission of providing housing for families of moderate income in the Princeton community."

Mr. Vial said the association's predevelopment loan from the state Housing and Finance agency is being used "for preliminary studies leading to the selection of a site in Princeton Borough." He added that PCH wants also a site in the Township.

YOUTH IS CHARGED

In Campus Thefts. A 17-year old Trenton youth has been charged with larceny, following his arrest on the Princeton University campus.

He was arrested at 5:15 by Sgt. Ralph Procaccino who charged him with stealing money, watches and rings from students' rooms in Blair Hall. He had been seen by a member of the University police walking around on the second floor.

Which Would You
Rather Have?

IN AMERICA the health standard is high. Six out of ten people have NO need to have a prescription filled in any given year. Because of this Drug Stores have found it necessary to diversify. The public support in these traditional non-prescription lines has enabled the community pharmacy to continue vital prescription service in most all areas of our great country.

IN GREAT BRITAIN the health standard is high, BUT because the community pharmacies have not diversified, it is necessary for the Ministry of Health to subsidize stores which are no less than 3 miles from another, and which dispense fewer than 9,000 prescriptions a year.

Thanks to the fact that American drug stores serve their communities in the health and beauty aid fields, there is no need for a government subsidy of drug stores, and at the same time, the customers benefit by finding many needs — filling of prescriptions, health and beauty products, gifts and toys — at his drug store.

The 'Talking Doctor': Aid for Troubled Children

Princeton's Child Guidance Center Serves Many

A HOUSE FOR PLAY . . . and therapy. Win Adams, chief psychiatric social worker at Child Guidance, stands by the doll house in the Child Guidance Center playroom. Young visitors may also dabble in a sandbox, play with dolls and toys and work on puzzles, all in the name of mental health.

"We're going to visit the 'talking doctor' . . ."

That's the way parents approach a wary and unhappy child about visits to the Child Guidance Center, 253 Nassau. Here at the Center the child meets the kind of doctor who doesn't hurt, the kind of doctor who talks in a friendly way and invites you into a playroom to explore the sandbox and move the puzzle pieces around.

Child Guidance's Nassau Street home is a branch of the Child Guidance Center of Mercer County, supported chiefly by United Fund money. "Child" is defined liberally, and children from pre-school years to 17 are welcomed for consultation and treatment.

At last count, 61 families were in treatment at the Center and 13 were on the waiting list.

Help Me. What, in his disturbed young life, brings a patient to Child Guidance?

Win Adams, chief psychiatric social worker who runs the pleasant Nassau Street center, outlines several broad problems that affect his youngsters.

"We see children who can't get along at home or keep any friends," he explains, "some boys and girls have a fear of school, and maybe 'under achieving' at school is beginning to appear as a symptom of their emotional problems. Delinquency, of course, perhaps even a suicidal gesture . . . trouble handling the stresses that come with adolescence . . ."

"Mostly, their problems show up at school: children may be withdrawn or generally unhappy. And parents will come in and say 'I just can't reach that child!' "

Some children are more seriously ill, perhaps in a preschizophrenic state, psychotic, or with symptoms of sexual deviancy.

Children are referred to Child Guidance through the schools, from private doctors, the Family Service Agency, the court or the juvenile referee, the hospital, or by parents.

"And sometimes," says Mr. Adams, "an older boy or girl, an adolescent, will come in on his own and ask us to help him."

Drugs? Mr. Adams shakes his head. "We have very few referrals with a drug problem. People want that kind of thing to remain very hush hush, so they usually go to a private psychiatrist. Of course, our treatment here is completely confidential," Mr. Adams adds, "and I think people know we keep everything in confidence but they take drug problems to a private doctor."

Can We Help? After a child has been referred to Guidance, the parents call Mr. Adams and they have a telephone conference. To start with, Mr. Adams wants to be sure this is a situation Child Guidance can help — perhaps the parents and child should go to Family Service, perhaps the child should be under the care of a private psychiatrist.

Then the parents, without their child, come for a visit, what Mr. Adams smilingly calls a "psychosocial situation." Mr. Adams himself is a reassuring kind of professional man — stocky and vigorous, with a manner which combines understanding sympathy with matter-of-fact directness.

How has the child been affected by his home? Mr. Adams wants to find out . . . how do the parents view the problems? . . . are the parents motivated for "following through?"

Then the child pays his first visit. Psychological testing and psychiatric evaluation follow . . . using the kind of tests that seem like play to a young child. The tests complete, there is a team conference with Mr. Adams, Dr. William Combs, staff psychiatrist and Dr. Hans Priester, psychologist, taking part.

"We talk about all the aspects of the problem," explains Mr. Adams, "the family, the results of the tests . . . we make a tentative diagnosis, and a treatment plan."

Together and Alone. Child Guidance combines individual with group therapy, modifying the approach as needed. "We see what emerges as we go along, and keep the treatment flexible."

"You know, sometimes we find that parents don't have a problem at all . . . a single interview can assure a mother and father that no really serious problem exists with their child.

"We don't believe in saying 'You have been a bad parent!' " Mr. Adams emphasizes, " we want to help people understand themselves as parents — to stand back from their problem and realize that there are many choices open to them, many ways of solving what they face."

Group psycho-therapy for parents is popular and productive at Child Guidance. Two groups of about eight mothers each, two groups of three or four couples each, a group of about 10 fathers — "in group therapy," explains Mr. Adams, "you can be open and direct because it's not a polite social situation. You can see why people react to you the way they do!

"And the more you see yourself as a total person, — the more you can improve your function as a parent."

believe?
Relatively few people do.
They are often surprised at the logical and understandable theology of this Christian religion. In fact, many people have become Christian Scientists when they have discovered how clearly it relates the teachings of the Bible to living in today's world.
Why not come into our Reading Room and learn this for yourself?

IT LOOKS LIKE NIXON: It looks likely that Nixon will get the nomination, says Mrs. Martha Ozizmir, following Rockefeller's decision last week not to run. However, she still does not rule out Rocky completely, or several other GOP hopefuls — naming Mark Hatfield, New Jersey's Senator Case and John Lindsay.

Question Of The Week

Question: In your opinion, has Rockefeller's decision not to run wrapped up the presidential nomination for Nixon?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Mrs. Martha Ozizmir, Faculty Road Apartments, house wife: It looks likely that Nixon will get the nomination although I still wouldn't rule out someone else — even Rockefeller. But he has been emphatic in saying he is not a candidate. Hatfield, Case or Lindsay would be more likely. I'd still be quite surprised if Nixon didn't get it.

Gerald Frimmel, Haddonfield, educator: You're assuming Rockefeller's decision is final. I'm not. I don't believe he has made up his mind. I think he is waiting for a draft. I don't think a draft will come — but I think that's what he is waiting for. So, I'll have to say "no" to answer your question. Right now, though, I can't think of anyone who is a serious threat to Nixon.

Charles Greene, 21 Palmer Square, librarian: Yes, I'd say it probably has. After all, Nixon is nationally known; he's run before. Rockefeller is the only other candidate nationally known.

Mrs. Stephen Stovall, 248 Hawthorne Avenue, teacher, Miss Mason's School: I'd say yes — unfortunately. Unless Rockefeller gets his draft, but I don't think he will. I wish there was someway he could get it.

Mrs. Craig Smith, Pennington, housewife: Yes, I'm afraid so. I don't see anyone else.

Charles Higgins, Princeton Pike, Middle School teacher: No, I don't think so. I think some dark horse will probably get it at convention-time — probably Percy. A lot is going to happen between now and then.

Mrs. Beth Kochen, 57 College Road West, housewife: Unfortunately, yes. And I for one will find it very tedious watching Nixon campaign and run again.

Anthony Ephremides, Graduate College, electrical engineering: I think so. There's no doubt about it. At the same time, I think although Nixon has the nomination, his party will lose the election. I don't think the majority of the voters like Nixon.

Boris H. VanHoffmann, Vandeventer Avenue, graduate student, German literature: As far as I can see now, yes — unless there is some unexpected development at the convention. I don't see anyone challenging Nixon at the moment.

Douglas Fox, 223 Marshall Street, graduate student, engineering: No, I think not. I think that Rockefeller still has a very good chance. I think his reasons for not running now are he is not quite sure what stands to take on certain issues. He's in the position that if he took a hawkish attitude on Vietnam, I don't think he would get the nomination. By the same token, I don't think he would get elected, either. Also, I don't think he would get the nomination with the delegate strength Nixon has, so he is sitting back — watching and waiting. I still think there is a possibility he'll receive a draft at the convention. I must say I was very disappointed when he didn't run. I might also add that in high school I worked for Rockefeller the first time he ran for governor of New York. I've been very much impressed with his New York record.

Dr. Renee Weber, 46 Snowden Lane, assistant professor of philosophy, Rutgers University: Unfortunately, yes. My only hope for a way out of such a depressing "fait accompli" is that the Democratic convention is after the Republican convention and since Kennedy's getting the nomination is by no means ruled out, the Republicans may think twice before pitting a loser like Nixon once again against another Kennedy. From my McCarthy button you can readily see who I am for.

Dr. Norman Young, 44 Alexander Street, professor of theology (from Australia), Princeton Seminary: Yes — but not the election. Who will win the election? I won't say who I think will win but who I hope will win — Kennedy.

Eugene Crookston, 151 Alexander Street, cook: No. I think Rockefeller is probably waiting, holding something back. I think he'll try for a draft, despite what he says.

ART
In Princeton

JAMES E. DAVIS

At Princeton Art Museum. The Princeton Art Museum will honor James E. Davis through April 28 with an exhibition of his work which could be termed retro-spective, but only in the limited sense of time (1922 to 1968) and with full promises of further and fascinating experiments ahead.

The presentation is superb, physically and categorically. The groupings trace the stages of development in Jim Davis' career as he has gone ever more deeply into abstraction, from drawings and compositional paintings to moving plane drawings, mobiles and their shadow pictures, translucent screens and finally, at this point, films.

New walls have been built in the gallery to give the reflection pictures their maximum effect. A dark room has been constructed in which the visitor can sit at ease and long enough to grasp the artist's theories and to appreciate the effects of the light-color movements.

The films are shown in the theatre at 101 McCormick Hall. In this show there is a definite crescendo of light, color, movement and general excitement; it's almost a happening!

We think it is important for the viewer to begin at the beginning, in the '20s and read the route signs which lead a way from realism closer and closer to the "pure invention and pure abstraction" of now.

There are entertaining Trange Show covers tinged with Beardsley influence and the effects of Greek vase study. His life and figure drawings are patient and sturdy renderings with character, and many reappear in paintings as part of studied compositions. Later come the action drawings with a burst of color and energy. These are brief and swift indications of tennis players and ballet dancers which bear out his concept of line as a plane in motion.

Motion Everywhere. We saw a colorful mobile, silent on the floor. Its design and color looked interesting. Then it was hung from the ceiling and a breath of air set it in motion. The lights flashed its color into

THE BEST NUMBER to call for classified advertising is 924-2200.

LIGHT AND COLOR: Reflections directed by a spot-light against a revolving acetate "object" make a colored pattern on the wall. The pattern which changes constantly as the reflected object moves. Jim Davis is the artist.

life and on the wall its reflections began their own ballet, as elegant and refined as the plastic construction. "An interplay of objects with reflected light and shadows in perpetual motion," indeed!

Next on the agenda is the experience of the dark room. Behind a screen, a series of mobiles are moved by heat and air creating a constantly moving light-color picture. Reactions to this are, of course, individual. Some people see a moving Rorschach test, others find poetic or musical connotations and one can be left breathless and dizzy.

It's hard to decribe in words, even for Jim Davis, who feels that perhaps he should entitle his transcuscent screen "Omage a Jacques Cousteau" because the scientist alone, in expressing what he saw from his bathoscope in the Indian Ocean, seemed most nearly to express what one sees in the fleeting forms which drift and dissolve on the artist's screen.

Films. At this point in his transition, having set forms in motion through light and color, and realizing that each combination was elusive, never to be repeated, the problem for the artist was how to capture the fantasy? So we come to the films, four in number and scheduled to be shown at 4 p.m. on Wednesdays, at 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays through April 28th. Accompanying music has been edited by Frank Lewin.

The first is an explanatory film, "Paintings and plastics," in which is realized the various techniques Jim Davis uses. In "Analogics" he gets into the medium, first filming natural images as they are reflected in rippled water surface, and then by artificial invention, filming moving forms in color against a moving surface. "Through the Looking Glass" goes a step further by filming totally artificially-invented reflections of the human form with a surrealistic result. The culmination is "Impulses" which is a mixture entirely of abstract reflections and refractions.

These abstract "exhibits" all support his basic premise that his "pure invention and pure abstraction" lie in the realm of science and bear close suggestion to what the modern scientist is opening up with his high-powered instruments, on land and sea and in space.

This makes us wonder where Jim Davis will take his particular art from here: right into outer space? And we'd go along with it.

MUSEUM TOUR PLANNED

By Art Association. A trip to the Museum of Modern Art in New York City has been planned by the Princeton Art Association, for Saturday, April 6, open to children eight years or older and their parents. The museum is holding a show entitled "Dada and Surrealism."

A bus will leave Princeton Shopping Center at 9 a.m. and return in the early afternoon. Lunch should be brought along. Reservations may be made at PAA headquarters, 14 Nassau Street, 921-9173, or through Special Projects chairman Mrs. Herbert Rubin, 921-7390.

PHS OPENS TUESDAY On Diamond Against Steinert.

The Princeton High School baseball team will open its 1968 campaign Tuesday afternoon at 3:45 against visiting Steinert with two of the four things its coach says a team needs to win.

"To win," says PHS coach Harry Zoll, "you need four things: pitching, hitting, fielding — and a little luck. And in that order."

By Zoll's count, the Little Tigers have two. "Our hitting and fielding should be okay," he said. As for luck, which he described as the six inches that make the difference between a triple down the line or a foul ball, Zoll said: "You flip a coin and take your chances."

Luck has a way of balancing out, so an optimist could say, without strong protest from Zoll, that PHS has at least two and one-half of his four essentials.

Pitching Is Bleak. But the one the team lacks is the most important. Pitching is vital, particularly in high school ball, in Zoll's opinion. "We have no starting pitchers back from last year, so things look pretty bleak," he said.

"If we could find one boy," he continued "who can pitch, we'll be all right. But where are you going to find him?" "You never know," he added, holding the door open.

At the moment, the Blue and White mound staff consists of three righthanders and one southpaw — two of whom saw spot duty last year. Biggest and strongest is Tom Butterfoss, 6-4, 210-pounds first baseman, who is starting his third year on the Varsity.

TRIO OF PHS SENIORS: Expected to fit into the baseball picture at Princeton High School this spring are Tom Butterfoss and Thom Yoder, pitchers, and infielder Gary Toth. (Staff Photo)

Butterfoss saw limited service last spring when starters Tom Wood and Mark Fischer got in jams. Despite his size, he was not overpowering as a pitcher.

Thom Yoder will be the second veteran to share the mound. Like Butterfoss, he is a three-year man and will be the starting third baseman. Smaller at 160, 5-11, he too saw limited duty.

A newcomer to the mound will be Tom Graham, a utility player last year when he was a sophomore. "Tom will play anywhere just so he can play," commented Zoll. When Graham isn't toiling on the mound, he will probably make his home at second base.

The lone lefthander among the four is senior Jack Wetterling, a fine soccer player, who did not play ball last year. Both he and Graham would have to be listed as question marks right now as far as pitching is concerned.

Veterans in Field. Elsewhere, Zoll who is starting his 12th year as coach has a veteran team. Veterans Nick Ryan and Bill Walstad, will share the catching duties, with Ryan probably handling the lion's share and Walstad playing more in the outfield. Both are seniors and good fielders, although both fell off somewhat at the plate last year.

Joining Butterfoss, Yoder and Graham around the horn will be shortstop Dave Drake. Drake opened at that important position last season as a sophomore. He should be developed into one of the area's best this season.

In the outfield will be hard-hitting Jay Springer, fleet Hal Logan and Walstad.

Four seniors up from the jayvees whom Zoll is looking over carefully are Gary Toth, Bob Salek and Bob Pazdan, infielders, and Jeff Shinkos, pitcher. Of the four, Toth appears to be the brightest prospect.

Another senior getting a lookee is Hutch Smith, along with sophomore Jeff Haring. Both were starters on the basketball team. Hutch was a standout miler last year on the track team.

Hampered by the poor condition of the diamonds — the junior varsity field looks like a portion of no-man's land and is unplayable — and less than a week of outdoor practice, Zoll is playing his cards close to his vest.

"Our biggest problem," he reiterated, "is pitching — finding someone who can throw the ball. I'm not making any predictions," he said with a smile. "This is what we had last year."

OPENER WEDNESDAY

For PHS Lacrosse Team. The Princeton High School lacrosse team which opens its season Wednesday at Fairlawn has a mission: it has to atone for last year's humiliation of losing all 13 of its games.

Lack of experience was the hangup of the 1967 squad. Coach Bob Arbegast commented that the sport was new to eight of his 10 starters.

This year's 18 man first team is dominated by juniors and seniors — many of whom have worked up from the jayvee squad — and inexperience will not weigh as heavily this spring. The team is led by co-captains Houston Webber and Karl Staudt.

Seniors on the squad are Fred Fox, Guy Moody, Dale Baldwin and Matt Alexander. Juniors are Bob Cooper, Clint Olson, John Rice, Pete McCrohan, Keith Van Arsdalen, Scott Purvis, Chris Schmitt and Russ Thayer. Rich Oberman, Craig Singer and Mike Tomlinson are sophomores along with goalie Mark Rosso.

Since he will be rotating his three midfield players constantly, Arbegast reported that 16 of his 18 will be steady performers. "If I could rotate my attack, too, that would be great," he added, "but I don't really have to."

A lot will hinge on how Rosso performs in front of the net. Arbegast recalled that Rosso had looked good toward the end of the season last year. "If he works out, I'll have a goalie for the next three years," he remarked.

Will he be able to reverse last year's performance? "With the men coming back and the experience we've gained as a result of last year, I don't think we'll have a losing season," replied Arbegast. "But you never know. All the other teams will be trying just as hard."

If spirit counts for anything, the Little Tigers should do well. Arbegast reported he had never seen such enthusiasm before the start of the season. "I'm pleased with their eagerness," he said.

This will mark the third year for lacrosse as a varsity sport at the high school. Before that it operated for two formative years as a club. Arbegast, who is still hampered in his ability to work with all the members of his squad because of the lack of assistants, has been the coach for all five years.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office. By their own figures, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

fices coordinate their tennis activities. The Community Tennis Program also conducts intensive beginning, intermediate, and advanced classes on its own. Less expensive beginning classes are conducted by the YM YWCA.

The Joint Recreation Board will also sponsor a series of free beginning clinics every Saturday and Sunday afternoon throughout the spring, to be run by John Zorzi of the Community Tennis Program. Equipment will be available for students without their own.

Old rackets and used tennis balls are needed for the program, and may be brought to the YWCA or Recreation Office. Rackets are welcome even if in need of repair.

HITTERS HUNTED

By Princeton Nine. A couple of better than-average pitching prospects give Princeton's baseball team hopes for the coming season but the age old cry "who's gonna do the hitting" is once again the early season story.

The Tigers have senior Steve Cushmore, an experienced southpaw, and hard-throwing Mike Fremuth on hand to head the mound corps. Together, they won nine of the ten games the Orange and Black took of the 22 it played last season.

Cushmore had a 5-4 mark and a 2.10 ERA; Fremuth, a right-hander who has drawn more than one look from a major league scout, started slowly but carved his ERA down to 1.45 while winning four and losing two. A number of sophomores, among them basketball star Geoff Petrie, are working to fill out the pitching strength during the current Florida trip.

Senior Mike Paulaitis, the third baseman who hit .280 last spring, heads the returning veterans with the bat but power and consistency are both badly needed. Arnie Holtzberg, a sophmore linebacker who was removed from the football scene early with a knee injury, may help as a catcher who can hit.

Junior Bob Flohr, a good man with the glove, has the job at first base nailed down, while Captain Bob Weber will aid defensively with his experience in centerfield. Hopefully, his .188 average of 1967 will go up around 100 points.

The positions at short and second, left and right field are open as the early games are played. Anyone who shows he can hit will receive prompt attention.

TITLE DEFENSE AHEAD

For Tiger Lacrosse Team. Ferris Thomsen, the Princeton lacrosse coach who has no peer at achieving maximum results from the material at hand, can logically resort to his favorite phrase, "It looks like a building year." The Tigers have been preparing for their opener at Maryland Saturday with a dozen lettermen but only two of them were starters on last year's Ivy champions.

There is, nonetheless, a degree of optimism traceable to the calibre of the holdover strength, which is being blended with last year's undefeated freshmen. Never one to shroud potential when he feels it is there, Thomsen candidly admits, "I think we can put together a team which will make a real run for the Ivy title."

A Princeton resident, senior Dick Reynolds will give the Tigers topflight experience in the goal but he and attackman Jim Karanik, an All Ivy choice last spring, are the only two regulars not lost by graduation. Among those who have departed are Karl "Pepper Pettit, a Bayard Lane resident, who was a top midfielder.

The Tigers open against the best four teams in the U. S., a long standing tradition which none of the other foes follows in full. Maryland, Johns Hopkins, Army and Navy are on the schedule in that order and the experience gained in playing these strong opponents proves invaluable.

Last year, the Orange and Black lost all four but then swept through the Ivy race undefeated, ending a 23-game Cornell winning streak in the climatic contest at Ithaca. The Red, which finishes here this season, and Harvard are considered Princeton's toughest league opponents.

Following the Maryland opener this weekend, Johns Hopkins will play here Saturday, April 6, with Army due on the 10th. A triumph in any of the first four contests is invariably regarded as a distinct upset.

NCA WINS TENTH

With Victory Over FMC. National Computer Analysts, the class of the YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball league, rolled methodically to its 10th consecutive triumph last week, downing FMC 44-35.

Jim Young pumped in 19 points for the Hospital to lead the Medics to a 66-58 win over RCA. Tom Connolly dropped in 26 ponts for the losers. Standings as of March 19: NCA, 10-0; Hospital 7-3; FMC, 4-6; ETS, 2-7; and RCA, 1-9.

READY, AIM . . . Ferris Thomsen, Princeton's perennially successful lacrosse coach, is setting his sights on another Ivy title. He has finished first every season but one since the league became formal in 1956.

TRACKMEN OPEN HERE

Wednesday Against Steinert. The Princeton High School track team will open its season at home next Wednesday afternoon against the Spartans of Steinert High School under a new coach — Larry Ivan — and minus its superb performer of last year — Dan Tindall.

Tindall excelled in the shot, discus and javelin — winning all three in many meets for 15 points. His specialty was the javelin. Last year on one occasion, he hurled it 232-11 — second best distance ever for a high school performer in the state.

"You don't replace a guy like Tindall," said Ivan. "You hope one like him comes along once every 10 years."

While there are soft spots in both the field and running events, Ivan reported that it was too early yet to assess the team's weaknesses and strengths. At the time, his team had had only two days of outside practice.

One thing is certain, every candidate will get a chance to show what he can do. Ivan already has his eye on a few freshmen, two of them being John Fitch, who lettered in indoor track and cross country, and Philip White.

He described Fitch as having a "lot of running power at any distance." White is a sprinter.

The team is co-captained by Chris Haring, a miler, and Al Moring, a broadjumper. Two fine veteran quarter-milers back are senior John Westefeld and Julian Solotorovsky, a junior.

Others who will contribute are veterans Keith Lawder, two mile; Charlie Madden, the shot and discus; Paul Mazarella, hurdles; and Ron McEwen, high jump.

In addition, Ivan expects to get help from senior Dick Van

MEETING SATURDAY

For Midget Baseball Players. A meeting will be held Saturday morning at 10:30 at the YMCA for all Midget Baseball League candidates, team managers and others interested in the league.

Then, the baseball committee will explain the rules and regulations of the league to the membership. Contracts for joining the league will also be accepted at the meeting.

Boys are urged to bring their gloves. Tips on throwing and fielding will be given if the weather is suitable.

TENNIS SESSIONS SET

For Women. Beginning Monday Princeton area women regardless of ability will be able to participate in spring tennis sessions from 9 to 11 a.m. Mondays, Tuesday and Thursdays at the Community Park courts.

Plans have been made for ladder play on all levels on Mondays, whereby players will have an opportunity to challenge and play someone higher on the ladder. On Tuesdays and Thursdays round - robin play will be arranged as players arrive so that women can be assured of a doubles game.

For further information call Kim Deemer, 921-2111 or Julie White, 921-8047.

BOLSTER TAKES FIRST

In 100-Yard Breastroke. Andy Bolster, a member of the YMCA Flying Fish team, won first place in the 100-yard breakstroke event in an AAU meet held Sunday at the Jersey City YMCA. His time was 1:20.0.

Andy, 11, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Bolster Jr. of 124 Parkside Drive.

First Serve April 1

BOWLING NOTES

Wheeler Bowler of Month. Jim Wheeler of Princeton Aviation in the Nassau League rolled a 254 last week at the Princeton Recreation Lanes to earn the TOWN TOPICS Award for the high single game of the week.

Among the women, Maggie Schmidt won the award with her 173.

Rudy Schutz of Ben's Body Shop in the Nassau League leveled the most pins, 637, on games of 209-193-235. Pros Aeschbacher fashioned a 610 — highest game a 232 — and Jerry Perpetua and Bob Cifelli rolled 602s. Cifelli started with a 241 but fell off to 180-181. Perpetua's best game was his last, a 226.

Val Ranallo had a 230 and Ed Hughes a 223. Rolling a pair of games over 200 were Bill Whatley, 209-215 and Jim Shely, 201-210.

Tiger Garage widened its lead to four points, 52-48, over Princeton Aviation and Grover Lumber, both tied for second. R&D Atlantic had 46 and Ben's Body Shop and P&S Local 380, 42 each.

In the A League, Fred Procaccini got A for performance when he rolled 232-214-202 for a fine 668. Joe Procaccini had 178-222-201 — 601. Nick Rossi rolled 236-174-194 — 604, while Angelo Tamasi had 202-220.

High single scores: William Whatley's 232, Don Snyder and Bill Penelli, 224s, and Claude Pinelli and Bud Cavanaugh, 214s.

Balestrieri has pulled away in the standings to a nine-point lead over second-place Ivy Inn, 51-42. Last week, Balestrieri's margin was six. Nini Leasing and Antler's are third with 38 each. Maul Electric, Leo's Gulf and Stefannelli all have 36.

Bucky Cupples of Princeton No. 1 was high man by 33 pins in the Tri-County Firemen's League with his 246. Stanley Donald (213) and Ray Mount (210) were the only others above 200. Bill Whatley and Barry Duvall each had 199.

Mercer No. 3 lead stretched from four to 10 points. It now leads Rocky Hill and Hook & Ladder "L," 38-28. Princeton No. 1 (25) and K.F.D. (24) follow.

Jerry Perpetua and George Munson with 226 and 201 were high among the men in the Mixed League. Karla Hunson's 157 was tops for the ladies.

Strikes leads with 32 points. Taps has 26, Spares, 24.

Still 1-2 in the Blue Angels Hi-Y League are Operators, 18 points, and Turkeys, 15. Originals has 12.

Greg Kline's 170 was the high game, followed by Willie Rosso's 151 and Gary Grob's 143.

The race tightened in the Women's Business League where Rocky Hill Inn's lead has been cut to, 44-42, by Nini Plymouth. Princeton Taxi has 40, MacKenzie Realty, 42, and Bucci Builders, 36.

Margaret Drummond with 211-172 (522) led seventh-place Claridge Liquor to an 820 game. Diane Fowler was a consistant 197-179-175 for 551.

Others: Julia Ball, who also converted the 6-7-10 split, 192; Dot Wheeler, 186; Charlotte Rossi, 182; Irene Tufano, 180; Mella Cruser, 179; Carol Lisi, 175; Betty Jane Harris, 174; and Miss Schmidt, 173. Myrtle Smith had 181.

GYM BUILDING FUND

THE NEED

With a present membership of over 6,700 men, women, boys and girls, the Princeton Y must have more space. The need for a gym is urgent. So is the need for clubrooms and offices to conduct programs of arts and crafts, language lessons, nursery and babysitting care. Present programs are handicapped. Athletic programs involve transfers to remote gyms at inconvenient hours, while classes and meetings are crowded into the lobby and small offices. At times, different meetings must be held simultaneously in the same room. The Y has grown — now the space must grow!

THE CAMPAIGN

The men and women of our community who make up the YM-YWCA Building Fund organization are seeking $800,000 in pledges. Your contribution can be made in convenient payments. For example, a pledge of $100 could be made over a 4-year period, amounting to less than 50c a week. The important step to take is to pledge your support now.

THE PLANS

Brick by brick, dollar by dollar, we can build the new facilities on the present Y location at Avalon Place and Bayard Lane. We will have the fully-equipped gym the Princeton area needs — and the equally essential clubrooms, offices, nursery and exercise areas that will make possible full family participation under one roof, for the first time in this area.

THE BRICK YOU BUY

will have your name on it — permanently — in the wall of the new Y gym. Pledge $100 and your personalized tile brick will become part of the wall. Pledge $500 and your brick will be in one of the two large Y symbols designed into the new YM-YWCA structure.

Make your contribution to a healthier, happier community for all of us.

TIGER NINE SPLITS

Breaks Even with Rollins.

An opening day 11-to-2 victory over Rollins for the Florida-based Princeton baseball team did not provide sufficient momentum for the touring Tigers, and they lost the second game, 3-2.

Despite the chill weather in these parts before the Tigers went south, veteran Steve Cushmore pitched a complete game on Monday, allowing six hits and basking in the pleasure of errorless support. The senior southpaw benefitted from a 12-hit attack by his teammates, three by Captain Bob Weber. The power shot was a home run by outfielder Bob Gang.

Another standout was third baseman Mike Paulaitis, who set some sort of opening day record by scoring four times. In contrast to Princeton's flawless play afield, Rollins was guilty of five errors.

Junior Mike Fremuth was the loser in Tuesday's contest as his mates misplaced their short-lived power at the plate. Seventeen Princetonians fanned.

Two games against Florida Southern and two more with Stetson were scheduled to round out the full week. The Clarke Field opener is set for next Thursday at 4 against Rochester.

LACROSSE HERE SUNDAY

N. J. Club to Play at Hun.

The New Jersey Lacrosse Club, now based in Princeton, will open its season Sunday at 2 on the Hun School field at Edgerstoune, where it will play all home games. The Washington, D.C., Lacrosse Club will provide the opposition.

Hawley Waterman and Dave Savidge of Hun are the coaches of the 30-man squad, which formerly played in Elizabeth.

Heiser on TV Saturday

Joe Heiser, captain of the Princeton basketball team, will climax his tryout for the U.S. Olympic quintet with appearance Saturday in the annual East-West game. The contest, to be televised over Channels 6 and 11 at 2 o'clock, will be staged in Louisville, Ky.

The past week has seen Heiser and twoscore other top prospects taking part in trials held in Albuquerque, N. M. The nation's top foul shooter during the past season, he is rated a good chance of making the squad which will represent this country at Mexico City in October.

In scrimmages during March, the club defeated Rutgers, 8-3, the Scarlet using part of its varsity and a number of jayvees; topped Swarthmore, 12-6, and lost to Penn, 5-2.

A "NEW GENERATION" OF MERCEDES-BENZ PASSENGER CARS HAS ARRIVED!

A new generation of Mercedes-Benz passenger cars, incorporating the latest in engineering developments and crisp, modern styling, has been introduced. These models will be available on or after March 22nd. At present, deliveries will be made in limited numbers.

New, higher-torque engines and a host of engineering features are part of the re-shaping of the entire line of Mercedes-Benz motor cars. Outstanding development of the new line is a totally restyled body for the medium-priced range of cars. While completely distinguished from the higher-priced models, these cars now reflect the characteristic styling first introduced on the 250 line in 1965.

The higher-priced models continue unchanged in appearance, but have been given new and larger engines with considerably greater torque, for improved performance in the lower engine ranges. These models will be designated as 280-S and the 280-SE.

The new bodies will be designated as the 220, 220-D, 230 and the 250.

MUSIC In Princeton

THE PROGRAM—VARIED

Musicianship: Superlative. On Monday night the Princeton Chamber Orchestra presented its second Princeton subscription concert of the current season at McCarter Theatre. Nicholas Harsanyi, its musical director, conducted.

The program was again varied and intesting from several standpoints. The magnificent Mozart "Adagio and Fugue" in C Minor which opened the concert, displayed the Salzburg master in his most chromatic vein. The orchestra played the work intensely and with dramatic feeling though at times the ensemble was less secure in its attacks than one has come to expect from this fine group.

The Bach Violin Concerto in A Minor which followed, is more a concerto for string orchestra with violin obligato. Miss Helen Kwalwasser, the orchestra's concertmaster, was the soloist and performed her part quite beautifully.

This artist played with a warm, solid tone, and gave just the right kind of interpretation to the Bach work. Her style was always a "musical" one, never mannered or overromanticized.

Following the Bach, came a rare reading of one of Richard Strauss' lesser-known later works, the "Duet Concertante" for clarinet, bassoon and strings. This work, composed in 1947 when the composer was 83 reveals the autumnal, pastoral quality so prominent in the German master's last works.

There is much beauty in the music, especially in the opening moment of the first section, but like much of Strauss' music composed after World War I, the notes tend to meander amidst banality and meaningless trivia.

The two woodwind soloists, Sol Schoenbach, bassoonist, and Harold Wright, clarinetist, delivered a performance of impeccable clarity and feeling. The gorgeous tone quality that emanated from each artist's instrument was quite impressive.

After intermission, Mr. Harsanyi and the orchestra returned to perform the late Irving Fine's "Serious Song" for string orchestra, and Mozart's lovely Symphony No. 29 in A Minor.

The "Serious Song" by Mr. Fine is one of the composer's last efforts in his "neo-classic" idiom. It has some beautiful textures and interesting moments, but it seems to lack sufficient material of genuine musical substance. Similar material has been heard to better advantage in Stravinsky's scores of the 1940's.

The Mozart Symphony was brilliantly played, as was the delightful encore, the first movement of Mozart's Divertimento in D Major.

The orchestra and its conductor again demonstrated with this concert their superlative musicianship and polish. Here is an orchestra which plays to capacity crowds on tour throughout the nation, yet receives only token support from its own community. Why?

—Arno Safran

STRING CONCERT SET

At Choir College. The American String Quartet will present a concert at 8 p.m., Wednesday, April 3, in the Playhouse of Westminster Choir College.

The quartet includes Max Hollander and Paul Winter, violinists, Harold Coletta, violist, and Carl Stern, cellist. Each has been a member of the NBC Symphony. Mr. Hollander is a former NBC concertmaster.

The program will include works of Beethoven, Gliere, Wolf, and Ravel. The public is invited to attend the free concert, part of the college's "Westminster Series."

AND NOW — PRINCETON

For Westminster Choir. The young singers of the Westminster Choir will celebrate their return from a 5,000-mile tour of 12 cities when they appear in McCarter Theatre next Monday in concert.

Dr. George Lynn will lead the group in compositions by J. S. Bach, Brahms, Copland, Mendelssohn and Mozart, among others, with traditional folk songs on the program as well.

Singers in the Choir are students from Westminster Choir College. The group, which has been called the "Stradivarius" of choral groups, has sung under the direction of Toscanini, Bruno Walter and Leonard Bernstein. During the past season, the choir sang in the White House for President and Mrs. Johnson and foreign guests.

DU PRE COMING

Cellist to Perform. Jacqueline du Pre, the young British cellist, will appear for the first time in Princeton when she gives a recital in McCarter on Wednesday, April 3, on Series I of the Princeton University Concert Series.

Miss du Pre will appear in joint recital with her husband, Daniel Barenboim, pianist. They will play Beethoven's Twelve Variations on a Theme from Mozart's "Die Zauberflote," Beethoven's Sonata in D Major for piano and cello, and Cesar Franck's Sonata in A Major.

At the age of 16, Miss du Pre was already a recognized performer, playing on the BBC, at the Edinburgh Festival and in Royal Festival Hall in London.

Mr. Barenboim was born in Buenos Aires in 1942, but later moved to Israel and is now an Israeli citizen. He was a piano prodigy as a child, performing with the Royal Philharmonic while he was still in his early teens.

He and Miss du Pre were married in Jerusalem last year during the Israeli war.

VIRGINIANS TO PLAY

In Benefit Concert. The Virginia State College Symphony Band under the direction of Dr. F. Nathaniel Gatlin, will give a benefit concert next Wednesday, April 3, at 8 p.m. in the Princeton High School auditorium.

The concert will benefit the building fund of the First Baptist Church and is being sponsored by the Young Adults of the church.

Tickets may be reserved by calling the church between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. (924-0877) or the Rev. Edward Smith after 5 p.m. (921-8396.)

The Symphony Band represented the United States at Expo 67. The musicians have also appeared on television and have played for parades and half-time performances at professional football games.

FOUR SEMINARS PLANNED

On Natural Resources. The Princeton YMCA and the Stony Brook - Millstone Watersheds Association will present a free series of seminars in April on natural resources. The first three will deal with water, land, and air, and the final will show how they are interrelated. All four will be held at the Princeton YMCA, Avalon Place.

Richard S. Thorsell, Resource Director of the Watersheds Association, will speak Monday night on "Water Pollution — Nature and Effects." The following Monday, April 8, Franklin B. Flower, Extension Specialist in Environmental Science at Rutgers College, will talk on "Air Pollution and the Citizen."

Malcolm P. Crooks, secretary of the New Jersey Soil Conservation Committee of the State Department of Agriculture, will deliver a speech Monday, April 22, entitled "The Land Is All We Have."

The final seminar, April 29, will be conducted by Paul M. VanWegen, president of the Watersheds Association.

The seminars will be limited in enrollment to provide maximum community participation. Registration may be made through the YMCA office, 924-4825.

TO HOLD HEART CLINIC

At YMCA Thursday. A clinic on heart fitness, diagnosis and treatment will be held Thursday evening from 7 to 10 at the Princeton YMCA building on Avalon Place.

A team of doctors and laymen interested in cardiology research and rehabilitation has been invited by the Y to present a program of information to be followed by actual demonstrations of techniques. The clinic will be open to anyone who wishes to attend.

News Of The CHURCHES

SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED

For Lenten Colloquy. The fifth and final Ecumenical Colloquy will be held at 8 next Wednesday, April 3, on the topic "The Bible Today." Opposing points of view will be presented by Dr. Johan Christiaan Beker, as the main speaker and Mother Mary Cecilia Wheeler as responder.

Moderator and host this week will be the Rev. Dr. Leon Gibson of Princeton Methodist Church. The colloquies are held in the auditorium of St. Paul's school under the co-sponsorship of the Princeton Pastors' Association and the Princeton Christian Unity Committee.

Dr. Beker brings to the discussion experience as a teaching theologian at the University of Chicago, the Pacific School of Religion and the Princeton Theological Seminary where he is professor of New Testament.

Educated in Utrecht, Holland; Evanston, Ill., and Chicago, he has been active in the Netherlands Student Christian Movement, the Utrecht Theological Society, Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis and the New Testament Society at the University of Chicago, the World Council of Churches, the "Yale Group of Theologians" sponsored by the Hazen Foundation, and Columbia University seminars.

Mother Wheeler, superior of the Stuart Country Day School, was chairman of the philosophy department of Newton College of the Sacred Heart for nine years. She holds degrees in European history from Manhattanville College, education and English from the University of Detroit, theology from Providence College, and a doctorate in Philosophy from Catholic University of America.

She has taught in Sacred Heart schools since 1929. In addition to her duties as religious superior of Stuart School, Mother Wheeler continues to teach a course in philosophy to junior and senior girls.

This will conclude the series of Lenten Ecumenical Colloquies being sponsored by the churches of Princeton through the Pastors' Association and the Princeton Christian Unity Committee. The Tuesday noon holy communion at Trinity Church and the Thursday noon worship service at First Presbyterian Church will continue through the week of April 7-14, right up until Easter.

SPEAKER AT ST. ANDREWS: Bishop Prince A. Taylor Jr., head of the New Jersey area of the Methodist Church, will discuss "Ecumenism As I See It" at 7 p.m. next Wednesday, April 3, following a Lenten family supper at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. He is former bishop of the Methodist Church in Liberia, past president of the Council of Bishops, chairman of Religion in American Life, a member of the general board of the National Council of Churches, and a trustee of Union Theological Seminary, New York.

CONFERENCE SCHEDULED

At Princeton Semioary. The fourth Edward F. Gallahue "Theology Today" conference at Princeton Seminary will be held April 17 to 21. The theme is "Next Steps for Church and Theology."

Participants, a cross-section of the various academic disciplines, theological viewpoints and ecclesiastical traditions, will include Dr. Eugene C. Blake, head of World Council of Churches; Bishop James A. Pike of the Center for Democratic Institutions, the Rev. Richard H. Leucke of the Urban Training Center, former pastor of Messiah Lutheran Church; Martin E. Marty of the Christian Century, Rosemary Ruether of Howard University and Stephen C. Rose of the Community Renewal Society.

Public lectures will be given by Profesor Jurgen Moltmaan of the University of Tubingea and Sister Mary Corita, Immaculate Heart College, Los Angeles. The Rev. John A. T. Robinson, Bishop of Woolwich, is scheduled to give a preconference lecture.

Princetonians taking part in conference leadership include Seminary President James I. McCord; Rev. Dr. Hugh T. Kerr, conference chairman; the Rev. Arthur C. McGill, the Rev. Dr. Charles C. West and the Rev. Dr. Seward Hiltner.

Inquiries concerning the conference are directed to the Rev. James E. Andrews at the Seminary.

TO SING "MESSIAH"

On Passion Sunday. The 40-voice choir of First Presbyterian Church will sing the Lenten portion of Handel's "Messiah" at 11 this Sunday under the direction of Mrs. Mary T. Krimmel. The choir will be augmented by a string quartet led by Joseph Kovacs.

Plans For Good Friday

The Princeton Pastors' Association will sponsor a community service on Good Friday, April 12, in Princeton University Chapel.

Final arrangements will be made at a meeting on Monday by committee members Rev. Eliot Daley of First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Harry I. Lauer of All Saints' Chapel, Rev. Carl Reimers of University Chapel, and Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer of Calvary Baptist, president of the PPA.

Written in 1741, the oratorio spans the three great seasons of Christianity; Advent, Lent and Easter. The 100-page Lenten score begins with the chorus, "Behold the Lamb of God," and ends 45 minutes later with the triumphant "Hallelujah Chorus."

Mrs. Krimmel has departed with the final "Amen Chorus" of the oratorio, in the belief that the "Hallelujah" would be a suitable crescendo at Easter. She will also include the seldom performed chorus, "The Lord Gave the Word" and the tenor recitative and bass aria, "Thou art Gone Up on High."

Soloists will be Peggy Smock, soprano; Nancy Dodson, alto; Clair Leaman, tenor; Edward Fox, bass; and Donald Bryant, bass. Miss Anna Royer will be at the organ.

LAYMEN TO SPEAK

At Palm Sunday Breakfast. Three laymen of the Pennington Methodist Church will speak at a men's communion breakfast to be held at the church Palm Sunday morning.

They are Dr. David Neiswender, 24 Pin Oak Drive, Trenton; Herman Smith, 109 Lewis Brook Road, Pennington; and Robert Griffin, 5 Chopin Lane, Lawrenceville.

Dr. Neiswender is chairman of the church's Commission on Social Concerns. He is a chemist at Mobil's central research laboratory on Pennington Rd., Rose Road, Hopewell Township.

Mr. Smith is a retired Air Force Colonel and is associated with Educational Testing Service. Mr. Griffin is an employee of IBM in Trenton. He is an accredited lay speaker in New York.

TO HEAR MENDELSOHN

At Unitarian Church. The Rev. Dr. Jack Mendelsohn, pastor of historic Arlington Street Church, Boston, will be guest preacher Sunday in the Unitarian Church of Princeton. His sermon title is "Dialogue at the Generation Gap."

Dr. Mendelsohn has written five books, including "Why I Am A Unitarian Universalist," published in 1964 by Thomas Nelson & Sons, and "The Martyrs, 1966" a civil rights account, published by Harper and Row. He is on sabbatical leave to write the biography of William E. Channing, a powerful figure in the early years of unitarianism, for Little Brown & Co.

He is president of the Urban League of Greater Boston and of the Foundation for Housing Innovations, Roxbury, Mass. and is a board member of the Binder Schweitzer Amazonian Hospital Foundation of New York, Citizen's Housing and Planning Association of Metropolitan Boston, Boston Conference on Religion and Race. He is also a member of the NAACP, Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts and the Harvard Club of Boston.

LENTEN MEAL PLANNED

By Methodist Women. A Lenten meal, commemorating the Last Supper, will be held at noon next Thursday, April 4, by the Women's Society of Christian Service of Princeton Methodist Church.

Mrs. Thelma Young, soloist, and Lon Gibson, cellist, will provide special music during the meal. The Davis-Compton Circle will also take part in the program.

There will be child care, but lunch will not be provided for the children. A brief business meeting preceeds the Lenten meal.

ADULT GROUPS TO MEET

Hear Rabbi, Publicist. Rabbi Albert Ginsburgh of Princeton will conduct the adult class in interfaith relations this Sunday in a discussion of "Jewish Attitudes Towards Immortality."

Dr. Robert Thomson will be the resource person for a discussion of the effectness of the church's use of television and other mass communication media, based upon the "Presbyterian Life" article, "A Long Day's Taping."

Rabbi Ginsburgh is rabbi of Temple Judea of Bucks County, Pa., and a chaplain of Philadelphia General Hospital. Dr. Thomson is with the Presbyterian national office of mass media. The classes are set for 10:10 a.m.

Also scheduled are adult discussion of the Book of Isiah, led by the Rev. Joseph O. Rand; "Theology for Family Living, led by Dr. and Mrs. Jack Cooper, and "Bible Themes in Contemporary Literature," led by the Rev. Dr. Harry DeYoung."

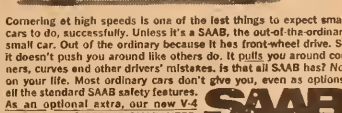
It does things other small cars shouldn't do.



Cornering at high speeds is one of the last things to expect small cars to do, successfully. Unless it's a SAAB, the out-of-the-ordinary small car. Out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves and other drivers' mistakes. Is that all SAAB has? Not on your life. Most ordinary cars don't give you, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features. As an optional extra, our new V-4 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE.

The GREATEST . . . BEST . . . FASTEST . . . How many times have you seen and heard these words in ads selling service . . . we admit, we've used them ourselves. But we have found that you can't sell a service with superlatives! We simply say that we think our TV Repair Service is merely better than adequate . . . it's only GOOD.

We have trained, competent technicians with years of experience in their profession to back that statement.

And most of all, we have many satisfied customers . . . which is, after all, our ultimate goal!

Do us a service . . . call 921-8500 today so that we may serve you!

STUART HILL . . . choice wooded 2-acre lots, with city water and sewer, gas, all other utilities now available for home construction this year. Altogether, we have 27 lots, with beautiful trees, near the Stuart Country Day School, and only a few minutes walk from Princeton Day School on The Great Road. This is generally considered to be the finest residential area in our town where building lots can be bought. The land is high and most of the properties have a southern exposure. We'd be delighted to discuss this property with you and furnish you with a map so you can explore the area at your convenience.
Prices begin at $23,000

OLD COLONIAL . . . in nearby Hopewell, with beautiful shade trees. Owner has devoted a great deal of thought and money to the modernization of this house. The result is a delightful place to live in with every modern convenience, yet the exterior and the grounds still retain the charm which always comes to mind when one hears about an old farm house in the country. Entrance hall, den with bookshelves, paneled dining room, living room with fireplace and built-in bar, brand new kitchen, fully equipped. Second floor: master bedroom and bath, 4 nice bedrooms & bath. Almost an acre of land. (sole agent) $32,000

FOUR BEDROOMS . . . in adjoining Lawrence, on a high corner lot, this delightful red shingled home, with white shutters and trim, is only 6 years old. 23 foot living room with fireplace. Separate dining room. Sunny family room off the kitchen, with adjacent powder room. Full basement. 2-car garage. Upstairs: 4 corner bedrooms, 2 baths. This is a spacious home in a fine neighborhood with plenty of children. School within walking distance. Wall-to-wall carpeting. $34,000

PROVINCE LINE ROAD . . . on 1.9 acres, professionally landscaped at substantial expense, this long, white one-story home in neighboring Lawrenceville has foyer, living room with fireplace, separate dining room, large modern kitchen, paneled family room (which can be a guest room) and bath. Off the foyer, the bedroom wing has a large master bedroom and bath with nice big closets, and 2 more bedrooms and bath. Central air-conditioning. 2-car attached garage. The exterior of house was completely re-painted in the Fall of 1967. $52,500

WESTERN SECTION . . . nestled under lofty trees and on a sloping lot, the house has foyer, living room with fireplace and a lovely view of the garden, extra large dining room, modern kitchen, new master bedroom wing with its own bath, and 4 other bedrooms and 2 baths in the west wing. Downstairs: a delightful recreation room and a large library or office. This is a house you must get into and thoroughly look at. The exterior blends so quietly into the landscape that it never asserts itself as it really should . . . but indoors! $53,000

HORSE BARN . . . with three sturdy box stalls . . . plus 6.7 acres . . . plus a lovely old (circa 1830) Colonial farm house hiding from all passersby behind a high hedge. 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths. Double living room, fireplace, den, dining room, kitchen. These are the plain facts — but, put them all together (and if you like rural living), here is the place to gladden a horseman's heart. $50,000

TREES, TREES . . . on a quiet, wooded cul-de-sac, this lovely Colonial (designed by William Thompson!) features 4 bedrooms, 2 baths and powder room. Living room with fireplace, dining room, study, large modern kitchen with adjacent laundry and a full basement. Wall-to-wall carpeting. Aluminum storms & screens. Only six months old, but property has already been fenced and charmingly landscaped. Close to schools. $52,500

NELSON RIDGE . . . in this lovely area, which is still rural in character yet is only a few minutes from the center of Princeton, this long, low white one-story home offers a great deal to people interested in large living areas for entertainment . . . or work. The house has foyer, living room, large dining room, modern kitchen, and a vast family room with wall-to-wall carpeting. Both the den and the screened breezeway have fireplaces. Master bedroom with dressing room and bath. 2 small bedrooms and bath adjoin the den, which could also be a study room for children. Game room in basement. 1½ acres of land. (sole agent) $55,000

NEW! NEW . . . on a wooded acre-and-a-half, perched on the side of a hill above a meandering brook, here is a 4 bedroom, 2½ bath Colonial with many of the desirable architectural details so wanted nowadays; parquet floors, kitchen cabinets of Formica, slate floored foyer, your choice of colors and fixtures, central air-conditioning, natural cedar shakes . . . Living and dining rooms are large, the big kitchen has plenty of eating space . . . truly, a great buy! $65,500

ELM RIDGE PARK . . . brand new two-story Colonial on a 1½ acre lot. This is one of the last homes to be built in this choice, wooded residential neighborhood . . . And there are lots of children in the area, too . . . The house itself has a large entry hall with flagstoned floor and a powder room nearby. Living room with fireplace. Separate dining room. Paneled family room with sliding glass doors leading to the terrace. Big modern kitchen. Separate laundry and a maid's room (or 6th bedroom). Second floor: 5 bedrooms, 2 full baths. Master bedroom has a walk-in cedar closet. Two linen closets, walk-in storage space over the garage, and in the attic. There is a full basement under the house . . . and (of course!) a wine cellar. This is a property for a large family in what has come to be generally considered the finest residential enclave in the suburbs of Princeton. $73,000

THE READY TO DECORATE expansion areas in this lovely home are larger than the average small house — mainly 26 x 22 and 18 x 22. With the 4 bedrooms already there (one with fireplace), the large library with fireplace, large family room, 2½ baths, 2 stairways, basement and 2 car garage — space — space, you might even grow into it. $53,900

5 BEDROOM 3 BATH, 1½ story Colonial ranch—interesting lines with gambrel roof. Lovely panelled family room with fireplace, excellent dining room, 2 car garage and basement; on a one acre wooded lot in Longacres. $36,500

THIS SUBSTANTIAL OLDER HOME in Pennington won't interest you if you want a spanking new ranch on a jazzy street, but — if money is limited and decorating-manicuring doesn't faze you — if you like old chestnut woodwork, come see it. Nice modern kitchen, sun room, large dining room, 3 bedrooms and old but nice bath. As a bonus, a huge cherry tree and a walnut tree. $17,900

THE BARGAIN OF THE YEAR, just over the Township line — 5 lovely bedrooms, with a 6th bedroom or study on the first floor, as well as family room with fireplace, huge kitchen, basement and 2 car garage. Well-treed acre lot. $42,900

We are offering an attractive, small one-story house in the northeastern section of Princeton Borough. There is a small entry hall, living room with fireplace, dining room with french doors to terrace, three bedrooms and 1½ baths, kitchen, full cellar with washer & dryer hookups, hot water heat, and one car attached garage. Attic fan, blacktop driveway. $33,000

In the country about four miles from Princeton we have a property with two acres, a 6 year old house built by an engineer for his young family. It has a bright attractive living room with a picture window overlooking the fields, a fireplace and large dining el. The kitchren has an electric stove, dishwasher and disposal. There are three bedrooms, and 2 baths over a family room, 4th bedroom or study, lavatory & laundry. There is also a good cellar, detached two car garage and tool house. The owner has been transferred and the property is available after May 15th. The school bus for Hopewell Township is nearby. $37,500

On Province Line Road in Lawrence Township, we have a property with two acres planted with many fine young trees. The house has a living room with fireplace, dining room, kitchen, four bedrooms, 2½ baths, family room, cellar and two car garage. Most of the interior has just been decorated. Asking $55,000. Will consider offers.

HOUGHTON REAL ESTATE

Nassau Inn Building

John H. Houghton, Broker

The house is small, but so is the price — $28,000 in Princeton Township. Two bedrooms, ranch and in perfect condition.

A two story Colonial with four bedrooms at $34,000. True and that's not all. There is a center hall, separate dining room, kitchen freshly painted and new tile floor, playroom, 2½ baths. A desirable home that should be seen without delay. $34,000

Too many advantages to list is the keynote of this fine Princeton home. Some of the outstanding features are: central air conditioning, excellent landscaping with an abundance of dogwood trees, electronic air filter on heater, aluminum storms and screens, prime condition, good location, 4 or 5 bedrooms, 3½ baths, enclosed porch off dining room, walk-in storage. Truly a prime listing which should be seen without delay. $56,000

You can't beat this house for space and location! It consists of a large tiled entrance hall, living room with french doors leading out to a lovely wooded acre, dining room, huge modern kitchen, separate laundry-mud room, large family room with fireplace, 5 large bedrooms, 3½ baths, oversized 2-car garage and full dry basement. All of this on a quiet street for $56,500

POSTAL PATRON

Lucky for you it's always the guy next door.

This is a way many of us think about cancer: as if it only strikes the guy next door. And because you're you, avoids you. Perhaps you're lucky. But in 1965 cancer killed 805 guys next door every day. About 295,000 during the year.

Now it's impossible for it to always be the other guy all the time, for all of us. One day it may be someone in your own family. Or a dear friend. It won't always be the guy next door.

What are you going to do about it? Simply live in fear and hope that it will never be you? It needn't be that way. There is something you can do about cancer.

You can have a health checkup every year. Many cancers are curable if detected early and treated promptly. Over 90,000 Americans die of cancer each year who might have been saved. They delay seeing their doctors until it's too late. Many cancers can be cured. But they must be discovered in time.

There are cancers that science does not yet know how to cure. It's to gain this knowledge that money is needed. To continue the constant attack on cancer's resisting secrets. Is it caused by a virus? Can drugs be developed to cure cancer? Why do some people get cancer while others don't? Money to continue support of the many research projects well underway will help provide some answers.

Fight cancer with a checkup and a check. Some day it won't be the guy next door. Or you. Or anyone.
